R. M. HARWELL AND CHRIS ESSIG QUIT CITY SMOKE BOARD

Tire of Serving When Mayor and Council Will Not Give Smoke Department Support It Deserves

COUNCILMAN LEE MOVES TO REPEAL SMOKE LAW

Chamber of Commerce Smoke Committee Plans Aggressive Campaign to Defeat His Ordinance

R. M. Harwell, chairman of the city smoke board, and Chris H. Essig, member of the board, have resigned from the board because they feel the mayor and the general council are not giving the smoke department the support its work deserves.

Council recently passed a charter amendment extending the city's authority over smoke producing plants one mile outside of the city limits in all directions, which is necessary to the ultimate elimination of the smoke nuisance. Mayor Woodward vetoed the amendment and council sustained his veto.

At the meeting of council when the veto was sustained, Councilman Jesse B. Lee introduced an ordinance to repeal the smoke ordinance and to abolish the smoke department, and the ordinance was referred to the ordinance committee.

These two things, coupled with councils refusal to give Smoke Inspector Poole a much needed assistant, and the general hampering of the department's work by a lack of funds, as discovered by Mr. Harwell that he called on the mayor Wednesday afternoon and tendered his resignation, at the same time expressing his mind pretty freely.

Mr. Essig tendered his resignation on Thursday morning, stating to The Journal his reason for resigning he said: "The mayor and council are not giving the smoke department the support it deserves, but are hampering it instead. My time is too valuable for me to worry along in a work which the council seems determined to handicap in every way it can. I wouldn't have stayed as long on the board as I did, except for Mr. Harwell. He had his heart in the work and I wanted to help him. Inspector Poole is doing a magnificent work, and I want to say if the city loses him it will not find another man to fill his place. He is a high class technical man, knows the work thoroughly, and is as straight as a die. Nobody can down him. He is doing a splendid constructive work."

RESOLUTION IS OPPOSED.

Following close on the heels of these resignations, the smoke abatement committee of the chamber of commerce, on hearing of the ordinance introduced by Councilman Lee, held a called meeting Thursday at noon and passed resolutions urging the ordinance committee to report unfavorably on the Lee ordinance.

The members of the committee were unanimous in the belief that the ordinance committee is not going to give any serious consideration to the Lee ordinance, but in the event the committee should consider it they want to appear and submit arguments why the smoke department, instead of being abolished, should be further strengthened and supported.

They will call the ordinance committee's attention first to the substantial progress made toward elimination of the smoke nuisance; and secondly, to the unfairness to plant owners who have spent money to comply with the smoke ordinance to turn around now and repeal the ordinance.

HAS DONE MUCH WORK.

Smoke Inspector Poole, since January 1, 1913, has brought no less than 211 plants within the smoke limit of 12 minutes, and all of those except five are so well within the 12-minute limit that they could come within the 6-minute limit—which is the limit in most other cities having a smoke law—without a dollar's additional expense.

In short, there is every reason why the smoke ordinance should be continued and the smoke department strengthened, and no reason why the good work that has been done should now be wiped out.

The smoke inspector may not be eliminating the smoke nuisance as rapidly as some council members think he should, but the explanation is that he is working alone, without assistance, and, working from the center of the city out, which has been his method, the further out he gets the slower he must work because of the increased distances he must travel.

WOMAN MAKES KICK AT DOG; IS BITTEN ON FOOT

Mrs. Shelby Smith, wife of the well known Atlanta real estate dealer, and former member of the board of county commissioners, was badly bitten Thursday shortly after noon by a mongrel dog when she attempted to kick it from the front piazza of her country home on Hemphill avenue, about six miles from the city.

Mrs. Smith was sitting on the porch when the dog entered the premises. In attempting to drive the animal away she kicked at it and received its teeth in her foot. She was rushed to the health department of the state capitol in an automobile and there given the Pasteur treatment as a precaution.

Up to this time the dog has not been found and it is not known whether or not it was rabid.

The body of the baby, recently born, was found in the lake by a negro woman early Wednesday. It had been struck on the head, wrapped in a newspaper and thrown into the lake.

Reno Has Rival in Fulton County for Granting Divorces

New Record Established Here in Granting 119 Verdicts in Four Days

A new record for the Fulton county divorce mill has been established by the granting of 119 divorce verdicts during the four days of the present week.

The regular bi-monthly hearing of the undefended divorce calendar commenced before Judge George L. Bell in the superior court on Monday morning, and the mill worked smoothly until Thursday afternoon, when the hearing was completed, and the marital ties of 119 couples had been either partially or totally severed. It takes two verdicts in Georgia to make a divorce absolute, and about one-half of the total number were second verdicts.

The record of the court is 32 divorces on Monday, 36 on Tuesday, 24 on Wednesday, and 27 on Thursday.

Charges of cruel treatment, habitual intoxication and desertion were those most frequently made by the various plaintiffs, but occasionally the person seeking the verdict would invoke the statutory grounds.

At no one hearing of the undefended calendar have so many verdicts been granted in the county. Occasionally larger numbers of cases have been on the calendar, but usually many of them are checked or postponed.

Doctor Offers Plan To Prevent Spread Of Whooping Cough

Dr. L. B. Clarke, a local physician, has offered a suggestion to the public to stop the spread of whoopingcough.

Dr. Clarke says that of course whoopingcough demands the modern treatment of fresh air and plenty of sunshine, but that in order to get such treatment children necessarily go to the city parks, ride in the street cars and come in contact with other children who may catch the disease.

He suggests that whoopingcough patients be required to wear a band on one sleeve bearing the letters "W. C." or some other insignia. In this way, he says, they may stay outdoors as much as they want to and yet be shielded by others, children, he says this plan was tried with great success in Norfolk, Virginia.

Dr. Clarke says that it is possible he will take up the matter with the city board of health.

W. H. Rowan, Atlanta's Other First Flight Player, Loses to Rotan—Jacobi Lowers Record With 68

(By Associated Press.)

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 4.—Turning in a card of 68 points for the 18 holes, L. Jacobi, of Dallas, hung up a new amateur record at the Memphis Country club in the third round of play for the southern golf championship here today. He defeated B. H. Baugh, of Birmingham, 6 up and 5 to play. The previous amateur record was 69.

Nelson Whitney, the present title holder, and George V. Rotan, of Waco, the crack Texas golfer, both survived in the third round of play. Perry Adair, the fifteen-year-old Atlanta crack, showed his stamina again by defeating Whitney Bowden, of New Orleans, 2 up.

MRS. STEVENS MAKES BRILLIANT ADDRESS

Representatives of Every State of Confederacy and Officers of North and South Armies Present at Unveiling

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 4.—A bronze monument, typifying the south "rising triumphantly from the sufferings and privations of war, was dedicated at Arlington national cemetery late this afternoon to the memory of the Confederate dead. The memorial was formally given into the keeping of the federal government by Mrs. Daisy McLaurin Stevens, president general of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, and was accepted by President Wilson, who paid high tribute to the sincerity and valor of those who fought under the stars and bars. General Washington Gardner, commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans, delivered addresses, giving significant expression to the amity now existing between veterans of the blue and the gray.

The monument was designed and executed by Sir Moses Ezekiel, himself a native of Virginia and a veteran of the Confederate army. It stands amid circling tiers of small white headstones marking the graves of nearly 200 Confederate dead.

WOMAN ACQUITTED OF KILLING HER HUSBAND SEEKS HIS INSURANCE

MRS. CALLIE SCOTT APPELBAUM.

Mrs. Callie Scott Appelbaum Sues in Athens Court on $10,000 Policy Held by Jerome A. Appelbaum

Mrs. Callie Scott Appelbaum, widow of Jerome A. Appelbaum who was found dying from bullet wounds in a bathroom of the Dakota hotel, Atlanta, several months ago, appears again in the courts, this time at Athens, where she is suing the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance company for $10,000, claiming that to be due her as beneficiary on the death of Appelbaum.

Mrs. Appelbaum was accused by the police of having shot her husband, and was indicted and tried on the charge of murder. She was acquitted, and since her trial has continued living in Atlanta, where she has been conducting a manicure parlor.

At the trial of Mrs. Appelbaum the defense set up the counter theory, in opposition to the murder theory of the state, that Appelbaum committed suicide. Attorneys representing Mrs. Appelbaum examined several witnesses along this line, and the suicide theory was advanced in their closing arguments as a plausible basis for doubt that the state's accusation of murder was correct.

NO EYE-WITNESSES.

There were no eye-witnesses of the tragedy. Mrs. Appelbaum stating on the stand as a witness in her own behalf that she had left the room to escape Appelbaum's abuse, and that she remembered vaguely having spent some time in the hall in her night attire before she heard shots in the room and rushed in panic to the hotel office to notify the clerk.

Now, in the suit at Athens, Mrs. Appelbaum has filed a claim on a policy which, the defendant company answers, contains a clause stipulating that if the insured commits suicide no money will be paid.

This is embodied in the company's answer. It is preceded by another contention that the policy was invalid anyway, the first premium not having been paid and th edocument having been cancelled with the consent of Appelbaum.

It is said the defendant insurance company is holding in reserve an amendment to its answer, which was filed some days ago. This amendment will set forth some contention not yet forecast definitely, containing allegations as to the motive of the insured in her death. The company asserts the policy on Appelbaum's life was taken out in August preceding his death in February.

FILED SUIT IN JANUARY.

Mrs. Appelbaum's suit to recover the insurance was filed in the city court of Athens in January of this year. Nothing was known of it publicly until Thursday, when it came to light that Dr. J. W. Hurt, county physician of Clarke county, Georgia, had certified that Appelbaum could not have killed himself. At the trial of Mrs. Appelbaum the theory of murder, Dr. Hurt testified he had examined the wounds on the body of Appelbaum, and that in his opinion they could not have been inflicted by the man upon himself. Dr. Hurt's testimony was combatted by the defense of Mrs. Appelbaum.

Moore & Branch, her lawyers then, appear again as Mrs. Appelbaum's attorneys in the suit at Athens. With them are associated T. W. Rucker and Lamar Rucker, both of Athens. The Jefferson Standard Life Insurance company is represented by Cobb & Erwin, of Athens.

A representative of the insurance company stated Thursday that the suit might have been filed in either Athens or Atlanta, as the company has agencies in both places to accept service of court matters.

The case is on the calendar of the Athens city court for trial June 15.

Mrs. Appelbaum denied to a Journal reported any knowledge of the suit.

SECOND FRANK MOTION COMES UP ON FRIDAY

Motion to Set Aside Verdict of Guilty Will Be Heard by Judge Hill

The hearing of the motion to set aside the verdict of guilty against Leo M. Frank on the ground that he was not present in the court room when it was rendered, will begin before Judge Ben H. Hill at 10 o'clock Friday morning. This is expected to be the last fight for Frank in the superior court of Fulton county.

It is understood the solicitor will demur to the motion, the demurrer, if it is filed, must be argued and decided before anything further can be done. If it is sustained, the case will be thrown out of court. If not, the hearing will proceed.

Should the motion be denied by Judge Hill it will be appealed to the supreme court of the state, leaving two motions before that tribunal, as the extraordinary motion on the ground of new evidence, which was denied a short time ago by Judge Hill and subsequently appealed, has not yet been decided.

The hearing of the motion to set aside has been repeatedly postponed, but it is now understood that both sides are ready and that Judge Hill will brook no further delay in the case. It is considered likely that the hearing of the motion will be concluded by Saturday evening.

The principal fight will be on the law, although the solicitor general, Hugh Dorsey, will also make an issue of fact.

"FAVORED WAIVER."

The motion contends that Frank did not know that his presence was to be waived.

The solicitor will dispute this allegation, and will attempt by the introduction of affidavits to show that Frank not only knew that his presence was to be waived but that he consented to and favored the waiver.

The state will contend that Frank's motion to set aside makes the point that the law requires the defendant's presence, and that neither he nor his attorneys have a legal right to waive it.

As a result of the court's construction of the law will be the most important phase of the case, regardless of the facts shown by the affidavits, which will be introduced both by the defense and the state.

The motion claims that Frank's rights under the federal constitution were violated by the superior court's allowing a rendition of the verdict in his absence. On this claim, in event both superior and supreme courts deny the motion, an effort will be made to get the case into the United States court.

PLANNING HIS FIGHT.

Solicitor Dorsey is planning his fight on the motion with this phase of the case in view, and he will contend that there is no federal issue.

The work of securing affidavits to complete the state's fight on the facts involved had been practically completed Thursday Dorsey and his assistants denied themselves to callers and spent the day studying the law points in the motion.

It was said the state's answer would be finished some time Thursday afternoon. This will set forth the complete fight of the state. A copy of the answer will be delivered to the attorneys filing the motion.

ANOTHER STRONGHOLD OF HUERTA CAPTURED BY CARRANZA'S MEN

Colima, One of Most Important Cities in Southwest Mexico, Falls Into Hands of Rebels

GUADALAJARA REPORTED EFFECTUALLY SURROUNDED

Communication Between West Coast and Mexico City Has Been Severed and Federal Troops Isolated

(By Associated Press.)

ON BOARD U. S. S. CALIFORNIA, Mazatlan, Mexico, June 3.—(Via Wireless to San Diego, Cal., June 4.)—Colima, capital of the state of that name and one of the most important cities in southwest Mexico, has fallen into the hands of the constitutionalists under General Alamillo, former governor of Colima, according to official information furnished Admiral Howard late today by a constitutionalist officer.

Guadalajara, the objective point of the recent operations of the constitutionalist army of the northwest under command of General Obregon, has been effectually surrounded. Three columns of Obregon's army, according to official information reaching Admiral Howard, have succeeded in shutting off the city from the national capital on the east and Manzanillo and the Pacific coast on the west.

The schooner Leonardo, with a cargo of supplies for the beleaguered federal garrison at Guadalajara, was prevented from discharging her freight today by the dangerous fire of General Obregon's constitutionalist batteries. The captain of the vessel announced he would attempt tonight to run the constitutionalist fire.

Communication between the west coast of Mexico and Mexico City has been completely severed, according to information reaching the American fleet here today.

A party of constitutionalists, en route from San Blas to Las Tres Marias Islands, 60 miles west of Tepic, have captured the federal prison and the radio station, which will isolate the Huerta troops operating in Tepic from any direct touch with their chief.

Peace in Mexico Now Depends on Carranza

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Carranza loomed today as the crux in the mediation situation. On his message to the South American envoys hung the immediate scope of diplomatic negotiations, bring order out of war's chaos in the southern republic. The note was expected definitely to determine whether mediation is to be confined to the dispute between Huerta and the United States or extend to the settlement of Mexico's pacification, with the constitutionalists represented at the Niagara conference.

Carranza, at Durango, was in telegraphic communication with his agents here until late in the night. They transmitted to him the mediators' note, which had been written in Spanish. His message expressing "astonishment that the Niagara proceedings had been started without constitutionalist participation."

Assistant Secretary Roosevelt, of the navy department, was to take up with President Wilson and Secretary Bryan today the report from Mexico City that Huerta had ordered his minister of war to send federal agents to Texas border to halt shipments of arms for the constitutionalists said to be en route from New Orleans.

Mr. Roosevelt had stated no orders had been sent to American naval commanders as to treatment of the steamer Antilla, said to be carrying ammunition for Carranza, when she appeared in Mexican waters. That was regarded as an answer to the query as to whether the American warships would give protection to the Antilla if Huerta gunboats attempted to overhaul her.

NEGRO BOUND OVER ON ARSON CHARGE

Jim George, colored, formerly employed by Max Morris in his store at 139 Peters street, was bound over to superior court Thursday by Recorder Broyles charged with burglary and arson. His bond was $1,500.

State Inspector W. R. Joyner was in court and urged that the bond be made a big one, as he said he thought George set fire to Morris' store May 27. The store was a total loss, and burned in only eight minutes.

CHILLS AND FEVER CURED BY BLACK DRAUGHT

A Florida Postmaster Tells How This Well Known Remedy Succeeded After Others Failed

Leroy, Fla.—Mr. C. M. Hawkins, Postmaster at this place, who sustained serious injury from a bad fall, is now able to be up, and makes the following statement:

"Nearly 23 years ago, I came to Florida, from the State of New York, and a few days after I arrived was taken down with nervous prostration, followed by chills and fever.

I tried several different kinds of medicine, but they seemed to do me no good.

Finally, I got hold of a copy of the Ladies' Birthday Almanac, and saw Thedford's Black-Draught advertised. I sent to the Chattanooga Medicine Co., for a sample.

I then began taking Black-Draught, and I want to say that it cured me of chills and fever, and I have cured a good many others with Black-Draught since then.

I have been using Black-Draught, when needed, for nearly 23 years, and I consider it the very best liver medicine on the market today, without exception."

Thedford's Black-Draught has been uniformaly successful, during more than 70 years, when used to relieve chills and fever.

Fever is nearly always caused by some forms of poisons in your blood. Thedford's Black-Draught strikes at the root of the trouble, by cleansing and purifying the blood and restoring the system to its normal condition.

Try Black-Draught for yourself.

GREATER TECH CAMPAIGN MAKES GREAT HEADWAY

Machinery Is Organized for Raising Fund Necessary to Increase Facilities

The work of organizing the business machinery of the Greater Tech campaign has been completed at the daily luncheon meetings at the Piedmont hotel.

The campaign has outgrown the first headquarters in the chamber of commerce building, and has moved into a suite of rooms on the fourth floor of the same building.

Careful attention has been given to systematizing the campaign. The business men of Atlanta, from whom donations are expected, have been tabulated and placed on a triplicate card index system. These cards have been distributed to the chairmen of the various working committees.

All solicitations are to be directed from the central office of the campaign. A line will be kept on each card issued and reports will be made to the central office by the chairmen of the committees.

"Greater Tech" booklets have been distributed among the business men of the city, and more are at the disposal of the workers. The booklets are handsomely prepared and outline the work now being done by Georgia Tech and explain the necessity for enlargement of the facilities of the school.

The preparations for the campaign are arousing widespread interest throughout the state. Other cities are looking to Atlanta to take the leadership of the campaign, and will judge the worth of the movement in a large measure by the success it meets in this city, the home of the school.

GLOBE CO. TO HOLD GAY FESTIVITIES ON SATURDAY

Concert and Dance to Be Held in Whitehall Street Clothing Store

Dancing in a downtown clothing store will be the unique innovation offered to the public next Saturday evening by the Globe Clothing company, 89 Whitehall.

This will be preceded in the afternoon by a concert by the Fifth regiment band. The whole store will be tuned to the festival day, and the public concert fund of the city park board will benefit. Special prices are being advertised for that day by the firm. Five per cent of the gross proceeds of the entire day's sales will be contributed by the company to the fund for concerts in the park this summer.

The band concert will begin at 4 o'clock. At 8:30 o'clock the dancing will start, right on the main floor of the store, in a big space that the firm has cleared just for this purpose.

"Even the hat bands will be musical that day," said Sime Einstein, manager of the store, in great confidence Thursday morning. "Get it?"

The entertainment from start to finish will be free to the general public, and everybody is invited.

MORE GOOD NEWS OF SHRINERS' CONVENTION

A pleasant echo of the Shriners' convention is heard in the Masonic Observer of June 30, a Minneapolis publication, in which Atlanta is praised for her hospitality and cordiality.

The article, written by Maurice Wolff, quotes an editorial in full from The Atlanta Journal.

"To tell of all the people who were kind to Zohrah (the Minneapolis temple) is impossible," says the Masonic Observer. "But here's an editorial from The Atlanta Journal. It reflects the cordiality of the reception given the Shriners. It appeared on Monday, the first day of our stay. It is only one indication of the splendid indorsement given Shrinedom by Atlanta newspaperdom."

Dies Suddenly

MRS. CARRIE C. WALKER.

Daughter of Late Wesley G. Collier Dies Suddenly Wednesday Night

Mrs. Carrie Collier Walker, daughter of the late Wesley G. Collier, died suddenly Wednesday night shortly after 11 o'clock at her home on the Peachtree road near Buckhead. She was 42 years old, and had been an invalid for the past fifteen years. Her death, however, was unexpected as she had been improving steadily recently, and was in the best of spirits. Her brother, Sanford Collier, called to see her during the afternoon; and was gratified to find her very well at that time, so that the news of her death proved a great shock.

Mrs. Walker died at the old Collier home where she and her sisters and brothes were born and reared. Several years ago when the Wesley G. Collier estates was sold to the Peachtree Heights Land company, Mrs. Walker moved to the city; but was never contented until she repurchased the old home. She had it remodeled and had lived there until her death.

At the time of her death, her daughter and son, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Thomason, her trained nurse, Miss Mills, and Dr. George Mizell, were with her.

Mrs. Walker is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Thomason; four brothers, J. W. Collier, F. M., C. F., and Sanford G. Collier; and three half brothers, G. W., J. R. and W. J. Collier.

Te funeral will be held Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the residence. Interment will be in West View cemetery.

DON'T LOSE SLEEP COUGHING AT NIGHT

Take Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. The very first dose surprises you. It glides down your throat and spreads a healing, soothing coating over the inflamed tickling surface. That's immediate relief. It loosens up the tightness in your chest, stops stuffy wheezy breathing, eases distressing, racking, tearing coughs, soothes the irritated, inflamed bronchial tubes and air passages. Children love it. It is mildly laxative—as a cough medicine should be, and does not upset or distress the most sensitive stomach. Refuse any substitute. Contains no opiates. OFFICIALS ARE PLANNING FOR OPENING OF CANAL

Ceremonies Will Not Occur Until After Congress Adjourns Next March

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Officials of the war and navy departments were engaged today in planning the program for the formal opening of the Panama canal. The formal ceremonies hardly will occur until after adjournment of congress next March.

SEVERE RHEUMATIC PAINS DISAPPEAR

Rheumatism depends on an acid which flows in the blood, affecting the muscles and joints, producing inflammation, stiffness and pain. This acid gets into the boood through some defect in the digestive processes, and remains there because the liver, kidneys and skin are too torpid to carry it off.

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the old-time blood tonic, is very successful in the treatment of rheumatism. It acts directly, with purifying effect, on the blood, and through the blood on the liver, kidneys and skin, which it stimulates, and at the same time it improves the digestion.

Do You Know How to Walk?

WHAT helps to make flat feet? Walking with toes pointed out! You throw all your weight on the arch, until it breaks and falls.

Point your toes straight ahead; throw your weight on the outside of your feet. That's one of the recipes for getting rid of flat feet.

The other recipe is to get your feet out of pointed shoes and into roomy good-looking Educators, which give nature a chance to put your corns, bunions, bent bones, ingrowing nails, and flat feet to flight.

For men, women and children. $1.35 to $5.50. See that EDUCATOR is branded on the sole. That name guarantees the correct orthopædic shape which lets your feet grow as nature intended.

INTERESTING EVENTS TO END SESSION OF REXALLS

Business Meetings to Be Followed by Drawing for Auto and Dance

The final day of the United Drug company's convention in the auditorium began Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock with a business session in Faft hall.

Thursday, both morning and afternoon, will be devoted to business. At 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon the 500 delegates, with their wives, will participate in the prize awarding for a Jackson touring car. Each delegate received a chance on this car; the winner, unless this happens to be W. C. McGonagle, the Rexall druggist from Honolulu, is expected to drive the car home.

Thursday night the auditorium will be turned into a vast ball room for the crowning entertainment feature of the convention—the grand southern Land Sune dancing carnival. All of the delegates and their wives will dance, but before this Mlle. Andrea Nanda, and Edmunde Makalif, premier dancers of the Century Grand Opera company, of New York City, will demonstrate the evolution of the dance from earliest days to the present time.

Wednesday night the ladies enjoyed an organ recital by Edwin Kraft at the auditorium, while the men witnessed three special prize fights at the Atlanta Athletic club.

The New Baby is World's Wonder

Every tiny infant makes life's perspective wider and brighter. And whatever there is to enhance its arrival and to ease and comfort the expectant mother should be given attention. Among the real helpful things is an external abdominal application known as "Mother's Friend." It is so well thought of by women that most drug stores throughout the United States carry "Mother's Friend" as one of their staple and reliable remedies. It is applied to the abdominal muscles to relieve the strain and ligaments and tendons.

In a little book are described more fully the many reasons why "Mother's Friend" has been a friend indeed to women for more than two generations. This book was prepared not only to aid the inexperienced but to enable so many women to have at hand the timely hints, suggestions and helps in concise and neatly printed form for ready reference. It should be in all homes. "Mother's Friend" may be had of almost any druggist but if you fail to find it write us direct and also write for book to Bradfield Regulator Co., 308 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Georgia.

The little negro was paid by Cooperman to watch the house at 374 Martin street. When Stockes was seen to go in there Wednesday, the boy called Cooperman, who captured the alleged robber at the point of a pistol.

Recorder Broyles sent Stockes up for trial under $500 bond for robbery.

PHOTOGRAPHERS' ASSN. TO HOLD CONVENTION HERE

Largest Gathering in History of American Assn. to Meet June 15 to 20

The local committees on arrangements have completed their preparations for the convention of the Photographers' Association of America in Atlanta for the week of June 15-20, which is to bring to Atlanta the biggest gathering in the history of the association, and which will be one of the notable conventions of the year.

The convention is to last six days, and it is expected that there will be 1,200 to 1,300 delegates in attendance from all parts of the United States and Canada.

The schedule for the convention which has been arranged includes a number of social events, in addition to the serious business which will be transacted. In the convention proper will be discussed the latest in the photographic world. There will be technical lectures, provided by the manufacturers of various products used in photography, as well as lectures on the artistic side of the profession, which is coming more into prominence in the last year than ever before, by some of the more prominent men who have been affiliated with the association.

Monday, June 15, will be the opening day of the convention. No business will be conducted on that day. There will be addresses to the assembled delegates at the auditorium by Governor John M. Slaton and Mayor James G. Woodward. The meeting at the auditorium will begin at 2 p. m.

The social program will include a reception by the officers of the association at the Ansley hotel, auto rides, ending with dinners at some of the country clubs about Atlanta, old-fashioned barbecues, and a vaudeville entertainment, ending with a dance.

CAPT. R. J. REDDING DIES AT HIS HOME IN GRIFFIN

Was Founder of Georgia Experiment Station and Widely Known Throughout South

GRIFFIN, Ga., June 4.—Following an attack of acute indigestion early last night, Captain R. J. Redding, one of the foremost citizens of this section of Georgia, was found dead in bed at 6 o'clock this morning. He was 77 years of age.

His death was unexpected, as his health had been good recently. At midnight he was resting easily, but passed away before daybreak without a struggle.

He is survived by his wife and five children, R. A. Redding, S. A. Redding, Mrs. William C. King, of Atlanta; Mrs. S. B. Sawtell and Henry George Redding, of this place. The funeral will be held here tomorrow afternoon from the First Methodist church.

Captain Redding had occupied a prominent place in Georgia affairs for a quarter of a century, being a pioneer in the state's agricultural advancement. During the Civil war he served for four years as captain of the Forty-sixth Georgia regiment. He was an author of numerous works on agriculture and for twenty years was editor of agricultural publications.

He founded the Georgia experiment station and was its first director, which position he held for seventeen years.

Captain Redding was a native of south Georgia, moving to Atlanta when he was elected assistant commissioner of agriculture a number of years ago. He held that office, through several administrations, leaving it to become the director of the experiment station when that was established. He retired about seven or eight years ago and was succeeded by Martin V. Calvin. He was one of the state's experts in agricultural affairs.

Before taking public office Captain Redding was a planter and lawyer. Of late years he had devoted his time to literature and to editing the agricultural department of the Atlanta Constitution.

Captain Redding is survived by his widow, two sons, Messrs. C. A. Redding and S. A. Redding, both of Atlanta, and by two daughters, Mrs. William King, of Atlanta, and Mrs. Seneca Sawtell, of Griffin.

W. O. CHILDRESS' BODY SENT HOME FOR BURIAL

Man Who Died in Fall From Hotel Window Will Be Buried in Easley, S. C.

The funeral of W. O. Childress, who was killed early Wednesday morning in a fall from a third floor window in the Hilburn hotel, at Peachtree and Walton streets, was held at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening and the body shipped to Easley, S. C., which was Childress' home. Rev. W. C. Schaeffer and Rev. Russell K. Smith officiated. The body will be received at Easley by the Knights of Pythias lodge and buried with the ceremony of that order.

Childress was born in Cumming, Ga., fifty-five years ago, and graduated with first honor at Dahlonega. His military talent was so remarkable that the Georgia legislature elected him to represent this state at West Point. He decided to go to Central America instead, with a party of young civil engineers, and remained in that country twelve years, managing a silver mine and fighting in two revolutions.

Ten or twelve years ago he returned to the states and made his residence in Atlanta. He was a Knight of Pythias, a Knight of Khorassan and a Sigma Nu, being the organizer of the first chapter of this fraternity in Georgia, in Dahlonega in 1878.

COUNCILMAN RAPS CITY POLICE ON SPEED LAWS

Declares Atlanta Cops Talk in Newspapers, While County Police Enforce Law

If the city police department, when it gets ready for one of its periodic crusades against the auto speed maniacs, would simply go and get the speeders, instead of announcing in the newspapers that a crusade was about to start, they would accomplish vastly better results, in the opinion of Councilman Claude Ashley, of the Fourth ward.

"About every three months we read in the newspapers an announcement by Chief Beavers that violation of the speed laws must stop," says the councilman.

"The speed law continues to be violated, just as though we had no law and no police department to enforce the law.

"Sunday I was riding along North Boulevard in an automobile with my wife and daughter. We were running twenty miles an hour, which is fast enough, goodness knows, though not dangerously fast, I should say.

"All at once I heard a roar behind us, and along came an automobile and passed us like we had been tied to a post. I couldn't see anything but a cloud of dust. I know that car must have been running at least forty miles an hour, on North Boulevard, a main thoroughfare.

"How do the county police handle the speed fiends? Do they proclaim in the newspapers that they are going to make a crusade? Not on your life. They simply go out on their motorcycles and get the speeders, and take them before Judge 'Andy' Calhoun, and he builds a fire under them, so to speak, with the result that they remember the speed laws for a long time.

"The speed laws are vastly more respected on the roads of Fulton county than they are on the streets of Atlanta. The speed law is openly and flagrantly violated every day under the very eyes of city policemen, and they do nothing."

HARDWICK IS OPTIMISTIC, HE TELLS CONGRESSMEN

BY RALPH SMITH

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 4.—Congressman Thomas W. Hardwick, returned to Washington this morning from Georgia, and was given a cordial greeting by his colleagues on the floor of the house. The congressman was engaged i nearenst conference with Leader Underwood, of Alabama, when Speaker Clark left the chair and approaching the two extended to Hardwick a hearty handshake.

"How are you, Tom?" asked the speaker. "How's the campaign coming on?"

Mr. Hardwick told the speaker that the situation was entirely satisfactory, he is entirely optimistic over the outcome and confidently expects to be nominated in the August primary.

"Other than to express my satisfaction with the conditions in Georgia, and my appreciation of the support that I a mreceiving in all sections of the state, I have nothing to say at this time," declared the congressman.

"It is probable, however, that I will have a statement for the press tomorrow concerning my candidacy."

WOMAN SAYS HUSBAND HAS TOO MANY WIVES

Mrs. Ora Stone, in her suit for divorce filed in the superior court on Thursday, declares that when she married William J. Stone, he told her that he was embarking on the matrimonial sea for the first time.

When she went to live with him at Cairo, Ill., she says, she learned that he had two other wives and there was a suspicion that he had not properly divorced one of them.

Because of his misrepresentation she left him, she says.

They were married in March, 1913, and separated in March, 1914.

Attorney G. A. K. Stevens filed the suit.

THEATERS

(Criticisms of initial performances at the local theaters are written by members of The Journal staff. All other matter appearing in this column is furnished by the theater managements.)

A remarkable bit of attention to details is shown this week at the Lyric, where Forbes Aylmer has staged "The Dragon's Claw" for the Lucille La-Verne company. Mr. Aylmer wears a genuine Chinese mandarine's costume of embroidered silks which was imported for the original Philadelphia production and obtained only through the influence of a member of the Chinese legation at Washington. The whole company uses the costumes of the original production, and Miss Olive Blakeney is more than usually pretty in the rich colors of the Chinese child-wife Mr. Komlosy, the scenic artist, provided a setting which is distinctly oriental.

The four little one-act dramas presented this week seem to be taking hold of the audiences, and have created more discussion than anything offered by the company. The change from comedy to tragedy and back offers the variety of vaudeville without demanding the constant attention given one long play.

A corking good bill is this week's offering at the busy Forsyth theater. A more delightful place to spend a couple of hours could not be found in the city. Little Emma Bunting, surrounded by a capable company, presents "The Princess of Patches," a playlet in which the star is able to display her talents and charming personality in a clever and winning fashion. Dane Claudius and Lillian Scarlet, in a musical melange entitled, "The Call of the Sixties," are a big hit. These two clever people are splendid banjoists. "The Purple Lady" is a big musical comedy, with pretty girls, pretty costumes, jingling music and dance, and plenty of it.

Next week's bill is full of promise. Elsa Rueger, cellist, will be one of the headliners. Hubert Kinney and Helen Clarke, society dancers, will be another great big feature, and Miss Ray Samuels, an eccentric comedienne, is also on the bill.

For the first time "A Million Bid," the Vitagraph photo-play which ran 300 performances in New York, will be shown this week at popular prices at the Grand. It is in five reels and is produced by an all-star cast, including Anita Stewart, Harry T. Morey, Julia Swayne Gordon, Gladden James and Charles Kent. Other attractions will be Miss Jessie Houston, in popular songs, and Pathe's weekly.

PRIZE DEBATERS WILL CONTEST FOR MEDAL

The six prize debaters of the Atlanta Law school, who were chosen last week in a preliminary contest, will compete for a $25 gold medal at the annual debate of the school Friday night at 8 o'clock.

"Invasion of Mexico," will be the theme of the debate. Franklin S. Chalmers, A. A. Baumstark and Ernest W. Smith will speak in favor of invasion, arguing that the United States should assume the protectorate over Mexico. Hewitt W. Chambers, J. Walter LeCraw and S. A. Lokey will speak on the negative, against the United States assuming the protectorate.

The $20 gold medal for the best debate offered annually by the dean of the school, Hamilton Douglas. The debate Friday night will be open to the general public, being held in the Atlanta Law school rooms, at the corner of Peachtree and Marietta streets.

SETTLEMENT HOME NIGHT SCHOOL CLOSES FRIDAY

The closing exercises of the Settlement Home night school will take place Friday evening, June 5, at 7:30 o'clock in the auditorium of the Wesley building, 70 South Boulevard.

Besides a program from the school, the pupils and visitors will be entertained by a musical and readings by professionals.

Mrs. Henry H. Tucker, head of the educational committee of the Wesley house, and Miss Emma Burton, head resident, extend a cordial invitation to the public.

Prizes will be awarded for best attendance, department and scholarship.

GEORGIA STATE DENTAL SOCIETY OPENS SESSION

Suspension of Southern Branch of National Association to Be Discussed

In a meeting which will probably result in the voluntary suspension of the southern branch of the National Dental association, 200 members of the southern branch and of the Georgia State Dental society assembled for a three-days' convention in the Hotel Ansley Thursday.

Dr. Homer C. Brown outlined in his address the recent changes in the constitution and by-laws of the national organization. These changes provide for the units of the national society to be state societies; hence, there will be no room for the southern branch except on the basis of a state society. Rather than have this, Dr. Brown proposed that the southern branch disband; that the members affiliate with state societies in the southern states; that these state units then join the national organization.

The joint convention opened Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock with Dr. W. A. Dean, of Tampa, Fla., president of the southern branch, in the chair.

Dr. John F. Purser, of Atlanta, led in prayer, followed by an address of welcome from Governor Slaton. Dr. R. Holly Smith, of Baltimore, responded, after which President Dean addressed the members.

Reports of officers of the southern branch, roll call, collection of dues and appointment of committees followed, after which Dr. J. G. Reid, of Marion, N. C., read a paper on "Preventative Medicine in Dentistry."

Dr. J. P. Corley, of Sewanee, Tenn., read a paper on "Ways and Means"; Dr. N. G. Slaughter, of Athens, Ga., read a paper on "Oral Hygiene and Surgery."

Friday the business session of the society will be held. Papers will be read and officers elected. The present officers are scheduled to be re-elected. They are Dr. E. A. Tignen, Milledgeville, president; Dr. M. D. Huff, Atlanta, first vice president; Dr. A. A. Williams, Columbus, second vice president; Dr. W. M. Zirkle, Atlanta, treasurer; Dr. M. M. Forbes, Atlanta, secretary.

SERIES OF SHOWERS BOOKED FOR ATLANTA

Weather Man Says Prospects for Dispelling Long Drouth Are Good

A series of light summer showers are booked for Atlanta, according to announcement Thursday at the weather bureau, with lightning and thunder accompanying, similar to the storm Wednesday night.

The fact that dry weather is prevailing in Texas, recently flooded with rain, makes rainy conditions favorable for the east, declares the weather man.

Wednesday only .20 or an inch of rain was recorded at the weather bureau, but it was stated the rain was much heavier in other portions of the city. Another light shower is predicted for Friday afternoon, with more looming on the horizon for the next few days.

Altogether, conditions are highly favorable for dispelling the drought which for so long parched the state.

The Hot Springs of Arkansas

America's Greatest Resort the Year Around. Where Hope is Renewed, Disease and Pain Washed Away and Joyous Health Restored.

For beauty of surroundings, splendid climate the year around, recreations, social features and above all, health, Hot Springs, Ark., undoubtedly surpasses all other resorts in America. Nearly everyone who spends even a few days in Hot Springs falls in love with the place and returns year after year.

The world-famous baths, radio active to a marked degree, offer almost sure relief for Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Malaria, Locomotor Ataxia (earlier stages), Bright's Disease (when not too far advanced), Liver and Bladder troubles, Catarrhal troubles, Women's diseases, Skin and Blood diseases, and other troubles of a nature kindred to those above mentioned.

From the dawn of American history—and dating back hundreds of years in Indian lore, Hot Springs has been noted for its healing waters and the U. S. Government as early as 1832 recognized the wonderful powers of these waters and set this land aside—making of it the First National Park Reserve.

The fact that "Uncle Sam" is in control is sufficient insurance against exorbitant charges, and visitors or tourists come to Hot Springs feeling every confidence that their welfare will be jealously guarded.

The Army and Navy Hospital, located here, reports 90 per cent of its patients as being returned to duty. This is a fair indication of the certainty of relief or cure that sufferers may expect.

High up in the Ozark Mountains the nights are cool, the days ideal, and the city is practically free from flies or mosquitoes. Come and bring your friends and family. Anyhow, write for information, handsomely illustrated souvenir booklets, government reports and other interesting and valuable matter.

Cut out the coupon and mail it today.

Sec'y Business Men's League,

Please send, without cost or obligation on my part, full information and U. S. Government reports and recommendations regarding Hot Springs, Arkansas—hotels, baths, prices, etc.

Practical Prescription Against Stomach Acidity

Nine-tenths of all cases of stomach trouble nowadays are caused by too much acid. In the beginning the stomach itself is not diseased, but if the acid condition is allowed to continue, the acid is very likely to eat into the stomach walls and produce stomach ulcers which may render a radical surgical operation necessary even to prolong life. Therefore, an "acid stomach" is really a dangerous condition and should be treated seriously. It is utterly useless to take pepsin and ordinary stomach tablets. The excess acid of stomach hyperacidity must be neutralized by the administration of an efficient antacid. For this purpose the best remedy is bisurated magnesia taken in teaspoonful doses in a fourth of a glass of water after each meal. Larger quantities may be used if necessary as it is absolutely harmless. You can ask your druggist for the [illegible] as well as other forms of magnesia [illegible] mouth washes, but they have little or no alkaline action on the stomach as the bisurated. GEORGIA AND HER POLITICS

GOV. SLATON DECLINES TO MEET HARDWICK IN DEBATE

Referring to a statement made by him on April 8, in which he declared that he saw no good in joint debates, Governor John M. Slaton has addressed a communication to Congressman Thomas W. Hardwick, declining his invitation of June 1, to meet him on the stump. A similar invitation was extended to former Attorney General Thomas S. Felder, also a candidate for the short term United States senatorship, who also declined to accept the challenge.

Governor Slaton's letter follows:

Hon. Thomas W. Hardwick,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:

I have your favor of June 1, inviting me to participate in a series of joint debates.

A few days after announcing my candidacy for the United States senate, which I did on April 4, I stated in an interview that I would take part in no debates.

I know nothing which would lead me to change the position taken at the beginning of my campaign.

Moreover, in view of the approaching session of the legislature, the duties of the gubernatorial office will not allow me the time the suggested engagements would entail.

Respectfully yours,
JOHN M. SLATON.

The statement referred to by the governor in the foregoing communication follows:

I can see no good of joint debates. They usually wind up in a contest of mud slinging and billingsgate, and the man who is most proficient in this art gets the most applause, but not necessarily the largest number of votes. I do not believe in any such methods. The people of the state know me and my record for the past twenty years.

I think the average man can be of more service to his state and himself by ploughing his fields than by listening to two men abuse each other. I think the farmers feel this way about it also.

THOMAS M. BELL AGAIN IN RACE.

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Thomas M. Bell today announced his candidacy to succeed himself as congressman from the Ninth district.

"My platform is 'work incessantly for your constituents, and keep everlastingly at it,'" said Mr. Bell.

The congressman does not expect to elaborate upon this plaform, believing that his record in the national house of representatives is well known to the voters of the Ninth district and speaks for itself.

Mr. Bell is serving his fifth consecutive term, and in seeking re-election asks no more than was accorded his predecessor, Carter Tate, who served six terms in the house.

W. J. HARRIS STATES PLATFORM TO SCHOOL TEACHERS OF GEORGIA

William J. Harris, of Cedartown, candidate for governor of Georgia, has addressed a communication to the teachers of the state outlining his platform as regards educational matters, pledging himself to the advancement of education and to the furtherance of efforts to have the salaries of all teachers paid promptly. He refers also to the importance of the re-leasing of the Western and Atlantic railroad, the rental of which goes into the school fund.

Mr. Harris' communication follows:

"Longer terms for the common schools, prompt payment of the salaries of school teachers, and cheaper school books, is my platform for governor.

"The intelligence and wealth producing power of our people depend upon the work of the school teachers. Education and wealth go hand in hand—the states having the best public schools have citizens of the largest earning capacity. The children of Georgia are endowed with natural resources of mind and body which are unsurpassed in any state, and our children should have every opportunity to get an education.

"The president of the United States was a school teacher, and there is no higher calling. The good Christian mothers and noble teachers do more to determine the character of our future men and women than any other influence.

"My interest in the teachers and educational matters is not of recent origin. I taught school as a young man and I have also been in close touch with my brother, Prof. J. C. Harris, who for years has been superintendent of the Home public schools. When a member of the state senate, I supported measures advancing our educational interests and procuring for the teachers prompt payment of salaries. If I am elected governor, I shall strive to the best of my ability to promote both these ends, and I shall give much of my time to the advancement of common schools. The way to do this is by leasing the states' property—the Western and Atlantic railroad and unimproved property not used for railroad purposes—so as to secure the greatest amount of rental, as the proceeds go to the support of the public schools.

"This is the most important matter which will come before the people of our state for the next twenty-five years, yet, the other candidates for governor have ignored this issue entirely. My contention is that to subserve the educational interest of state in the best manner, a railroad lawyer should not be elected governor when this lease is to be made. My campaign is important, therefore, to every school teacher and child of school age in Georgia.

"The supreme court of Georgia has held that the public school teachers are officers of the state. Their salaries should be paid as promptly as that of other officers—certainly as other employes of the state do so much for so little pay.

"I shall also do my utmost to procure the best school books at the least possible cost to the people, as I believe much should be done along this line.

"From the thousands of letters I have received, I believe I shall have the support of most of the school teachers, and as my campaign is made in the interest of the schools of the state, I sincerely hope you will give me your active support.

"It will be impossible for me in the short time before the primary to visit the people of the state, but I hope you will write me regarding the situation in your county, and I assure you I shall greatly appreciate your support and assistance.

"Whenever I can serve you, don't hesitate to call on me, as it will be a pleasure to do anything I can for you."

Congressman Hardwick Leaves for Washington.

Congressman Thomas W. Hardwick, candidate for the short term in the United States senate, returned to Washington Wednesday afternoon to look after matters in the national capital before returning here for the formal opening of his campaign headquarters in the New Rimball on June 20.

Mr. Hardwick expects to get back to Atlanta on or about June 15, and when all details of his campaign have been worked out and his headquarters established in charge of John T. West, of Thomson, he will again resume his tour of the state for speech-making purposes. He has already visited twenty-four counties and says he hopes to get into the remainder before the date of the primary.

KIRBY FOR REPRESENTATIVE FROM COWETA COUNTY.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

SENOIA, Ga., June 4.—Offering as the main planks in his platform the repeal of the new tax equalization law and a curtailment of excessive appropriations, Joseph T. Kirby, of this city, has announced for the legislature from Coweta county. He has served two terms in the legislature and was defeated for re-election the last time by a small majority.

Coweta county is represented in this general assembly by Colonel Garland M. Jones, a leading attorney of Newnan, and Charles F. Hollberg, a prominent druggist of Senoia, both of whom will stand for election a year hence.

N. P. CULPEPPER NOT OUT OF RACE FOR SPEAKER.

Representative N. F. Culpepper, of Greenville, Meriwether county, was a visitor in Atlanta Wednesday, and when asked the direct question, said that he had never authorized the statement that he would not enter the race against W. H. Burwell, of Hancock, for speaker of the house.

Mr. Culpepper admitted that he had been urged to make the race for speaker a year hence and while he had not committed himself one way or the other, intimated that the support already tendered him would tempt him into the field.

TINSLEY RAGLAND HERE, HAS NO NEW BILLS.

Tinsley Ragland, representative from Talbot county and hailing from the thriving city of Talbotton, is a welcome visitor in Atlanta. He is serving his second term as a member of the lower house and so far has no opposition for re-election.

Representative Ragland says that he has no new bills to introduce except that he will ask an amendment to a local bill passed at the last session of the general assembly, incorporating the town of Box Springs.

The gentleman from Talbot is generally regarded as one of the strong men in the house and enjoys a wide popularity among his colleagues.

B. L. SMITH, OF FANNIN, WOULD ABOLISH COUNTY SURVEYOR.

Representative B. L. Smith, of Fannin, who was a visitor in Atlanta Wednesday on legal business, is preparing a bill to introduce at the coming session of the legislature seeking to abolish the office of county surveyor and create in lieu thereof the office of civil engineer for the county, whose duty it shall be to survey and grade the roads and establish the lines between the lands of personal property owners.

Mr. Smith declared that the present system of county surveyor is thoroughly unsatisfactory, especially in his part of the state.

"We are always in some dispute over lines," he said, "that have been established by an incompetent person, and I believe the only logical way to remedy the situation is to put all such work in the hands of a civil engineer of wide experience."

Referring to the recent revival of the move to place solicitors on a salary basis at a maximum of $5,000 per annum, in place of the present fee system, Mr. Smith said that he would favor such a measure and support it.

"Judges get no more than that in the large counties," he said, "and there is no reason why the solicitor should."

DEMOCRATS OF SEVENTH MAY TABOO UNIT PLAN.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

DALTON, Ga., June 4.—When the Democratic executive committee of the Seventh congressional district meets at Rome at noon next Saturday, subject to the call sent out from here by the chairman, Paul B. Trammell, it is practically certain that the popular vote method of deciding the nominee will be the rule adopted. The committee has heretofore tabooed the county unit plan.

At the Rome meeting, plans for the congressional primary will be made.

While Congressman Lee has been mentioned prominently in connection with the race for the governorship, and has remained silent concerning his plans, his friends are united in the belief that he will be a candidate to succeed himself as congressman from this district, and they don't think he will have any opposition.

THE PANAMA CANAL

This wonderful waterway cost $375,000,000 and involved a nine-mile cut through a mountain, the erection of six pairs of gigantic locks, and a dam 150 feet high and a mile long. The distance it saves—6,000 miles—will revolutionize commerce and place the United States first among the leading nations of the world. The Anheuser-Busch plant cost about one-seventh as much as this canal—one was built by a nation, the other by an institution.

TWO GREATEST IN HISTORY

Panama Canal and Budweiser

The supremacy of Budweiser has been built up by the natural and continued choice of the people. Its sales exceed those of any other beer by millions of bottles—proving its ever-increasing popularity.

Budweiser is brewed, aged and bottled in the largest and most perfect plant in the world, occupying 142 acres covered by 110 separate buildings. More than 7500 people are required to help Budweiser keep pace with the public demand.

A. B. & A. PROPERTY DUE TO GO UNDER HAMMER

Public Sale Expected Friday and Saturday Ordered by U. S. Courts

Under orders of the United States courts the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad, and subsidiary property, which has been in the hands of receivers for two years, will be sold, it is confidently expected, at public outcry on Friday and on Saturday.

A committee representing the holders of the $20,000,000 worth of bonds issued by the company, will be bidders for the property.

To qualify as a bidder a person or a syndicate must put up $100,000 in cash, and up to the present there has been no indication that there will be any bidders except the bond holders committee.

This committee is composed of Edward S. Marston, Francis Hart, Percy R. Pyne, Frederick Ayer, and John I. Waterbury, New York and Boston financiers. They will be represented at the sales by local attorneys.

There will be three separate sales of the property. The Georgia Terminal company property will be sold at 9 o'clock at the A. B. & A freight depot. The A. B. & A. railroad company will be sold at 11 o'clock at the Ben Hill station. The Alabama Terminal company will be sold Saturday in Birmingham.

Reorganization plans have bee ncompleted, and no intimation of the probable form of the reorganization can be obtained.

H. M. Atkinson and E. T. Lamb were first named joint receivers for the A. B. & A. property, but last November Mr. Atkinson resigned and since that time the road has been operated by Mr. Lamb.

MRS. ANNA E. GRAMLING DIES AT AGE OF 72 YEARS

Many Friends Mourn Passing of One of Atlanta's Oldest Residents

Many friends mourn the passing of Mrs. Anna Eliza Grambling, one of the long-time residents of Atlanta, who died Thursday morning in her apartment at 11 West alliker street. Mrs. Gramling was 72 years of age. For years she lived at the corner of West Peachtree and Baker streets, and the apartment wherein the end came to her is next to that corner.

Mrs. Gramling is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Kate G. Hardin, and one son, Dr. Robert E. Gramling; by three brothers, Messrs. George K. Porter and W. A. Porter of Heflin, Ala., and Joseph Porter, of olhnston, Tex., and by three sisters, Mrs. R. T. Talley, of Temple, Tex., and Misses Rachel and Bella Porter, of Flowery Branch, Ga. She was a member of the First Methodist church.

The funeral will be held Saturday morning in the chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son. Interment will be in Oakland.

DRUID HILLS BAPTISTS PLANNING NEW CHURCH

Druid Hills Baptists are planning to erect a new church in that locality which will be known as the Druid Hills Baptist church. The present church, Highland Park church, will transfer its membership and property to the new church, and an effort will be made to secure a suitable location at an early date.

To discuss plans and to effect the transfer a meeting will be held Sunday morning in the Highland Park church and at that time the old church will be dissolved and the new one organized.

Dr. B. P. Robertson will preside at the meeting and Dr. Weston Bruner will preach.

PLAYERS WILL APPEAR AT "THE WREN'S NEST"

MISS LUCILLE LAVERNE.

Three members of the Lucille LaVerne Stock company have been invited to appear at the open air festival at the Wren's Nest Friday afternoon, and will be among the entertainers.

Miss LaVerne will tell some of her inimitable negro stories and Miss Alice Blakeney and Louis Mason will exhibit the new tango steps.

"I have been an admirer of 'Uncle Remus' since ' was a little girl," said Miss LaVerne Thursday, "and anything I can do toward aiding in the work to perpetuate his memory I will gladly do.

"Do you know that I once had hopes of starring in a play written for me by Joel Chandler Harris? Well, I did. My manager was an intimate friend of James Whitcomb Riley, who in turn was very close to Mr. Harris. Mr. Riley suggested that he would persuade 'Uncle Remus' to write a play for me, and we had great hopes, but Mr. Harris' illness prevented his taking up the work."

Those who have heard the popular actress tell stories in negro dialect can appreciate what a splendid "Aunt Minervy Ann" she would have made had Mr. Harris written a play about the old negro woman who was one of his greatest characters. Miss LaVerne comes by her dialect naturally, for she was born and bred in the south.

The entertainment will begin at 4 o'clock, on the lawn of the Wren's Nest, on Gordon street, West End.

Every member of the Uncle Remus Memorial association is urged to be present at the entertainment if he doesn't want to miss what is announced as "a big surprise" the details of which are known only to a few.

A small admission fee will be charged. Members of the association are waiting with interest to discover what the big surprise will be.

COUCH IS FOUND GUILTY OF MAINTAINING NUISANCE

Citizens Win in Protest Against Depositing Dead Animals Near Their Homes

With a large number of indignant citizens in court, a case rivalling the Butler street sewer agitation was aired before Judge Andy Calhoun Thursday.

J. A. Couch, who deposits bodies and skeletons of animals on a tract of land half way between Center Hill and Adamsville, was found guilty of maintaining a public nuisance.

Witnesses stated the stench could be smelled for a mile; that it was unbearable in this hot weather. Couch, it is said, gets his animals from stock yards and cattle dealers; he makes tallow out of them and sells the hides.

It is posible Judge Calhoun will order Couch Friday morning to suspend operations near Center Hill, and will suspend sentence if this is done.

The indignant citizens who appeared in court Thursday appeared before the council board Wednesday with the complaint against Couch. The board then decided to take action to have the legislature provide a sanitary department for Fulton county.

Indeed, the prices tell just what they are.

Good Times!

What if we did have a drouth! The blessed rain has come, the green fields rejoice, and harvest hopes are quickening. Everyone knew that the enriching showers, though belated, were on the way, and the wise husbandman toiled steadily, preparing to make the most of opportunity when it did arrive. Business, which takes its cue from agriculture, is heartened. Merchants look forward to a season of active trade, manufacturers find a good demand for their products, money is easy, and the future shines prosperously.

Such are conditions in Georgia, and they are typical of the country at large. If the revival of business in the largest sense has not actually come, it is undoubtedly approaching. In some fields of industry there has been a drouth, but watchful men are confident of relief. They know that the sources of business are secure, that a period of vigorous growth and expansion is near, and that the present, far from being a time for discouragement, should be one of hopeful preparation.

"Commerce and Finance," a publication that is never optimistic merely for the sake of optimism, quotes the recent predictions of Judge Gary, of the United States Steel Corporation, Mr. A. F. Houston, of the Lukens Iron and Steel Company, and Mr. W. F. Thomas, president of the Briar Hill Steel Company, to the effect that an era of trade expansion is at hand, and comments in this wise:

"To these men and many others much of the depression has been sentimenal (President Wilson, it will be remembered said, "psychological"), a reflex of the pessimism of the East and particularly of New York. They say conditions are sound fundamentally. They see a healthier state as a result of a rather protracted and forced period of economy."

Men like Judge Gary do not pipe prosperity simply to make music. They know whereof they speak, and they agree that there is no cause or occasion for gloomy foreshadowings in the United States.

The inherent soundness and steady improvement of business conditions are not merely a matter of opinion but of record and fact. The national trasury department reports that customs receipts under the new tariff act are far in excess of estimates, and that is truly described as "a fair barometer of commerce." In Missouri, Oklahoma and Kansas, there is demand for a hundred thousand laborers to harvest the unexampled wheat crop. Agricultural prospects the country over are distinctly promising. Bank clearings the country over are notably greater than they were a year ago. The New York Herald, which has conducted one of its characteristically fair and thorough investigations, reports that most manufacturing plants are working full time and are disposing of their goods at a rate equal to production.

The fact is, there is but one cloud of doubt on the business horizon, and that, we have reason to hope, will soon be dispelled. The railroads are anxiously awaiting the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission on their appeal for a rate advance. As a result, those lines of industry that are closely related to the railroads are hesitant. It is expected, however, hat this important decision will soon be rendered, and if it is favorable, as most men think it will be, its stimulating effect will be instantaneous and far-reaching.

The calamity croakers have done their worst to create an atmosphere of depression, but they have failed, simply because there is no basic reason for depression. The new tariff has not hurt business. The new banking and currency law has incalculably helped business. The forthcoming trust legislation is moderate and constructive.

Good times are ahead.

Now that the drouth is broken, let us hope too much freshet will not start.

Ending the Tolls Issue.

There are hopeful indications that the prolonged and useless debate over the Canal Tolls bill will be brought to end this week, and will be followed promptly by a decisive vote, vindicating the nation's honor and abolishing the subsidy to coastwise ships. This issue, which at least in its economic aspect offers no excuse for Democratic differences, has been before the Senate longer than was the tariff or the currency measure. It has consumed precious time and blocked important legislation, simply because a small group of men wanted special favors for special interests. From the outset, it has been apparent that the repeal of tolls exemption was as certain as it was just. The most that the opponents of the bill could hope for was obstruction and delay. But they have evidently realized that the more they talk, the weaker grows their cause, and that the public's patience with quibbling is worn through.

Significantly enough, Senator O'Gorman, leader of the anti-repeal forces, has announced that he will ask the Senate to take up the repeal bill at once and consider it, without turning to other business, until it is disposed of. A canvass of the Senate shows fifty-two votes for repeal, with three doubtful Senators leaning toward it. The measure is assured of a majority of nine, without any amendment; and, if the committee amendent to the effect that repeal does not waive any treaty rights is accepted, the majority will probably reach fifteen or more.

Whatever question there may be as to meaning of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty (and it is noteworthy that the weight of expert opinion holds that tolls exemption for coastwise ships contravenes the terms of this treaty) there can be no doubt that such exemption is contrary to Democratic principles, as much so, indeed, as a high protective tariff would be. This point is so patent that it is not really debatable; and as a matter of fact it has not been debated by the advocates of tolls exemption. The burden of their contention has been that the United States has a technical right to give coastwise vessels free use of the canal. They are seemingly unconcerned as to whether it is economically wise or just to exercise such a right, supposing that it does exist. Regardless of treaty interpretations, our Government should not exempt coastwise shipping from its fair responsibility in the cost and upkeep of the canal. It would be as reasonable to give this monopoly free use of the mails, or to exempt it from the income tax.

There are a few men of note who sincerely believe that the Hay-Pauncefote treaty does not preclude the United States from passing American vessels through the canal without tolls, if it sees fit to do so; but the great majority of those best qualified to speak upon this question believe otherwise. As the Boston Transcript expresses it: "All the men now living who were most familiar at the time with the history of that convention are unanimous in insisting that it bound the United States by the same conditions as all other countries. Among these are Henry White, holding an important diplomatic position at the British court; Joseph Choate, who was our ambassador at the time; former Vice President Fairbanks who, as a member of the Senate at the time of its ratification followed the proceedings with the greatest interest and care; and Mr. Root who was a fellow member with Mr. Hay in the cabinet where the treaty was discussed."

Furthermore, there has recently come to light a letter written by John Hay himself, in which he makes it clear that he considered the phrase "all nations" to include the United States, and says specifically, "It was not correct to speak of the nations other than the United States as being bound by the rules set forth in the treaty; that It was the United States which bound itself by them as a consideration for getting rid of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty.

The whys and wherefores of this issue, however, have been exhausted. It is time to vote and clear the way in the Senate for constructive work. The resolution adopted yesterday by the Foreign Relations committee calling for arbitration of the disputed clause of the treaty does not affect the merits of the present issue, and will not alter the course of the Senate majority. If it be desirable to arbitrate, negotiations to that end can be opened after the repeal bill has been enacted.

Editorials in Brief

If Mellen could get real money out of C. W. Morse we can't see why he should have hesitated to tackle any other problem.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Instructions were actually issued to General Schofield that he "was not to pay attention to any court orders or any other authority than me." There are countries which tolerate government of that sort. Mexico endured it for years. Diaz's generals and receivers did "not pay attention to any court orders or any other authority than me." American citizens should be highly interested in knowing how near the republic was to Mexicanization in 1902, and what they may fairly expect should Mr. Roosevelt ever again become president.—New York World.

As for Catiline himself, he had, when very young, been guilty of many atrocious crimes, in open contempt of all law and order; afterward he conceived a passion for Aurelia Orestilla, one who had nothing but her beauty to recommend her; and because she scrupled to marry him on account of his having a son who was arrived at years of maturity, it is believed as a certain fact that he destroyed that son and made his house desolate to open a way for so infamous an alliance. And this, indeed, appears to me to have been the principal cause that pushed him to the execution of the conspiracy; for his guilty soul, at enmity with gods and men, could find no rest, so violently was his mind torn and distracted by a consciousness of guilt. Accordingly, his countenance was pale, his pace one while quick, another slow, and indeed in all his looks there was an air of distraction.—Sallust.

ADMIRAL BOUSH, WHO NEVER CRIES ENOUGH

BY HERBERT COREY.

WASHINGTON.—This isn't really the story of Clifford Joseph Boush, rear admiral in command of one of the divisions of the North Atlantic fleet now swinging at anchor off Vera Cruz. It is rather a study in character building.

"Boush," said one of his superiors the other day, "is one of the most admirable commanding officers in the navy. He may lack the daring and initiative of Mayo, for example. If he has imagination, he hides it in check. But he can always be depended on to do his duty to the last ounce. One need never worry when Boush is in command of a situation."

He wasn't that sort when he was a cadet. Then everyone worried if Boush was even remotely in touch with the outposts of what might at some time develop into a situation. Because Boush would surely muss things up. He was as mischievous as a monkey in a jam-pot. His theory of having a good time was to so annoy his official masters in the naval academy at Annapolis that they would go into the woodshed, and lock the door, and begin to sharpen their swords. Then Boush was happy. It was a by-product of that disposition that made him the man he is.

"Boush was a two-year-old when it happened," said one of his friends. "He was a frisky little devil—always ready to fight. The other cadet was a nose-in-the-air sort, anyhow. No one liked him. I don't even remember his name, but it seems to me that he put on too many airs."

Hazing was not permitted—intermittently—any more then than it is now. It was strictly forbidden to take a new cadet out into the campus and make him gnaw off a lot of dandelions. But this fresh cadet could not be endured by the upper classmen. They abducted him one night. Then, because he and Boush were nearly of a size, they directed that he fight Boush. That made Boush very happy. Afterward some one told.

"It seems to me that twenty—or perhaps twenty-one—men were expelled from the naval academy for that affair," said the reminiscent friend. "I do not recall that it was a particularly brutal hazing, as hazings go. The prime object of a hazing is not to reconcile the hazed to an unfamiliar environment, anyhow. But a hurrah was raised, just as a hurran is raised occasionally nowadays. At such times it is not the quality of the hazing, but the quantity of the clamor that decides the case."

Only one of the score of men expelled was permitted to return to the academy. That was Boush. After he had been out for more than a year, the ruling authorities reviewed his case. It was then discovered that he was much the youngest of those concerned in the affair. It appeared that he had been put forward by some of the others as a cat's-paw. His record was clean—except for that mischief which would bubble out at times—and the board was unanimously of the opinion that he was the material or which good sailors are made. He was permitted to return to the academy, although he was two years behind his class graduation.

"That affair," said Boush's friends, "saddened the admiral's life. He has never voluntarily referred to it. When others have spoken of it he has either walked away or has asked that the topic of conversation be changed.

"It is too painful for me to think of," he said.

"But," added Boush's friends, "I think it made him the man he is."

Boush's father was a retired naval constructor, whose one ambition was that his son should take high rank in the service. Boush was "a little red-headed devil," according to the recollection of those who knew him at that time. There was no feat too daring for him to take part in. He usually led in high-spirited foolishness. He was merry, full of laughter, impetuous, and forgiving. He would fight at the drop of a hat, and go to some personal pains to see that the hat be dropped. Win or lose, he was ready to shake hands and share cigarettes the minute the fight was over. Such a youngster would be sure to be at the front in a hazing bee. The cannier, cautious elders would be quite sure to give him his way. It was an immense grief to his old father when he was dropped from the rolls. The boy ate his heart out until he obtained permission to return to the academy.

"I think that he determined then that he should never again be used by anyone," said his friend. "That affair made him over from a bright, pleasure-loving, irresponsible boy into a serious and determined man."

Today Boush is a short, heavily built, well-set-up man, with a noticeable shock of white hair. He is notably slow to words, even to taciturnity. His face is as stern as that of a hanging judge. His mouth sets like a steel trap. But he is perhaps the most impartial man in the navy in deciding personal questions. He does not get angry—or at least he does not show anger. He is never hasty in reaching a decision. His evident desire is to be absolutely just, with a leaning toward mercy. In the routine of the service he has worked his way up from cadet to rear admiral, and has acquitted himself with high honor in each position. But he has been a conservative, careful, thoughtful man, rather than the spectacular firebrand that the acquaintances of his earlier youth would have expected him to be.

"Give Boush his orders," said his old shipmate, "and he would sail through hell on a match-box. He is a man of the most ferocious determination, and a fighter to the heels of his shoes. Once assured that he is right, and he could not be swerved. But to be 'right' is a passion with him. I do not mean right in the eyes of his superiors, or in the eyes of the world, or in the eyes of his men, but to be right in his own eyes."

In his personal relation Boush is the kindest, most considerate, most thoughtful of men. His few intimate friends express the warmest affection for him. But the casual acquaintance sees him only as a stern officer of duty.

The Bowl of Water

She is eight years old.
When she laughs, her eyes laugh;
Light dances in her eyes;
Bright tosses back her long hair
And with a song replies;
Then on light feet she darts away
Tripping, mischievously gay,
But now into this room of shadow
Coming slowly with the sun's long ray
And all the morning on her simple hair,
Oh, how serious-eyed
She steps preoccupied,
Holding a bowl of water
Poised in her fingers' care—
Water quivering with cool gleams
And wavering and a-roll
Within the clear glass bowl,
That brimmed and luminous seems
A wonder and a shining secrecy,
As if it were the world's most precious thing.
So open-clear that all have passed it by.
Cut stalks of iris lie
On the bare table, flowers and swelling buds
Clasped in close curves up to the purple tips
That shall tomorrow burst
And shoot a splendid wing,
When they have drawn into their veins the spring
Which those young hands, with the drops bright on them
So all intently bring;
Costless felicity,
Living and unbought!
But over me, O flowers
That neither ask nor sigh,
Comes the thought,
How all this world is wanting and athirst!

POOR POLICY TO SAVE ON FOOD AND SLEEP

BY E. K. WOOLEY.
(Copyright, 1914, by E. K. Wooley.)

"I haven't been to bed before 1 o'clock any night this week, and I'm so slee-epy!"

Get two or more girls together, or two or more young fellows, or a mixed bunch of young folks, and you will be sure to hear this expression. You will also be sure to see evidences of its truth in the tired lines and forced gayety of the speakers, who seem to vie with each other in the amount of sleep they can do without.

Among older people one doesn't hear so much about lost sleep as one hears about economy in food.

Just when the body needs good food and enough of it to counteract the wear and tear of the daily grind and make up for the encroachments of age, men and women begin to boast of the small amount of food they can consume and sustain life. Just lately another man has bobbed up, telling how his family exists on a diet of cornmeal at a cost of something like 12 cents a day. There are the one-meal-a-day faddists, and the no-breakfast faddists, who all claim that they are better off than when they ate three good meals a day. But put these people to an endurance test of any sort, and they would be the first to fall.

Nature demands that we eat and sleep, and nature punishes us sorely if we defy her in these particulars as in any others.

The great Edison may be so constituted that four hours of sleep in the day's cycle is enough for him. But Edison is an exception in every way. We can't hope to follow him. The average human being would soon be a wreck if he attempted to do it, and those young men and young women who believe that sleep is a waste of time in a few years will find that something is wrong with their brains and their stomachs, and that somehow they don't seem to enjoy things as much as they did. Also, they are apt to discover that their purses are rather skimpy and that they haven't climbed the business ladder very fast.

There are enough weary men and women who must miss their natural allotment of rest—weary men and women who labor long hours to make a bare living, or who must be up nights with sickness and young children. There are too many of us who must do without sufficient food to nourish our bodies, without having some cornmeal or one-meal enthusiast preaching to us that "we eat too much."

It's poor policy to economize in either food or sleep.

And why shouldn't we enjoy these necessary functions of sleeping and eating?

Why shouldn't food be as well to us so long as we are compelled to eat to live? Why shouldn't we live to eat as well as eat to live?

Why should anybody save on material and time that will make him strong, courageous, happy, contented?

Starve any animal, and its value decreases. The same is true of the human being. Moreover, the human being who doesn't eat and sleep enough is always hard to get along with. Ask any divorce judge if he doesn't believe there would be fewer divorces if more people had better food before served, and if there was less tendency to turn night into day.

Ask any sociologist if crime and degeneration are not largely the result of poor food, and not enough of that, and the burning up of vitality along with electricity in night-time amusements.

Quips and Quiddities

Mr. Craig was reading the evening paper, while his wife sat near by, knitting.

"Just listen to this, Debby," he said. "It says here in the paper that more than 5,000 elephants a year go to make our piano keys."

"Gracious!" cried the wife. "Ain't it just wonderful, how what some animals can be trained to do!"—Lippincott's.

"You don't take it; you give it to the cat in some milk."

Edward D. Fisher, deputy controller of New York City, smiled when the conversation turned to marksmanship. He said he was reminded of the great shot made by Brown.

Smith and Jones were walking along the boulevard one afternoon, when Brown was incidentally mentioned.

"Speaking of Brown," thoughtfully remarked Jones, "I understand it is something of a shot."

"He is a wonder," was the prompt rejoinder of Smith. "We were out in a field practicing the other day, when he hit the bull's-eye at the first shot."

"Fine for Brown!" commendingly returned Jones. "Tickled him almost to death, I suppose?"

"Don't you believe it!" answered Smith. "He had to pay for the bull."

A large woman with a large hat was sitting in the orchestra directly in front of a mild mannered gentleman who for the greater part of one act was unable to get a view of the stage. At last, unable to endure his enforced blindness any longer, he bent forward and whispered:

"Excuse me, madam, but would you mind removing your hat?"

"Why should I remove my hat?" retorted the woman.

"Because," protested the man, "I can't see the stage, and I want to laugh with the rest of the audience."

"Well," replied the woman, turning away, "you watch my shoulders, and when I laugh you laugh."

ROSIES

There's a rosie show in Derry,

An' tis like there's wan, I'm thinkin',
'Ill be held in Ramdalstown.
But if I had the chooosin'
Av a rosie prize the day,
'Twould be a pink wee rosie
Like he plucked when rakin' hay.
Yon pink wee rosie in my hair—
He fixt it, troth—an' kissed it there!
White gulls wor wheelin' roun' the sky,
Down by—down by.

Ay, there's rosies sure in Derry,
An' there's famous wans in Down,
Och, there's wee rosies in Athlone
Through the heart av London town!
But if I had the liftin'
Or the buyin' av a few,

Och, wet, wet tears!—ay, troth 'tis years

THE BRITISH CRISIS

XXIV.—THE ULSTER VOLUNTEERS.

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

BELFAST.—Sometimes, when there is threat of real trouble, it is worth while to forsake the leaders of men and go to the men themselves if one would accurately plumb the depths of a people's feeling. It is only by so doing that the true spirit of Ulster can now be gauged.

• • •

Sir Edward Carson may be as tragic or as eloquent as he likes in the house of commons; Lord Roberts and Lord Milner may be never so grave and portentious in their letters to the times, but there will still be those who are not convinced, who believe that Ulster is bluffing.

• • •

Ask the riveter leaving the huge shipyard in Belfast; ask the tramway conductor; ask the porter at the hotel door; ask the waiter at your table, or the barmaid. There is but one answer: "The government must give in. We will not have home rule!"

• • •

"How will you help yourselves?" queries the innocent visitor, who has respect for the English parliament as well as for the military prowess of Britain. Again there is but one answer, "The volunteers!"

• • •

Back of that prideful boast there lies, of course, a deep-seated belief that loyal soldiers wearing the king's red coat will never shoot at Ulster men, who are the king's most loyal subjects. But if they should, if the army should be so base and traitorous as to obey the mandates of a government so lost to shame as the government that is trying to carry home rule, then Ulster volunteers will shoot those soldiers with good conscience and perfect faith in their own untarnished loyalty. By that time, as is plain to every Ulsterman, the army will be the rebels, and only the Ulster volunteers will be left to defend the king!

• • •

It may be hard to believe, but an hour's walk around Belfast will convince the most skeptical that that is precisely what Ulster thinks.

"Ulster," be it remembered, in these articles means that "Ulster" now under covenant to fight home rule under the Orange flag. The province of Ulster as a geographical unit is composed of ten counties, and has a population of 1,580,000 out of the total Irish population of 4,382,000. According to religious belief, the people of Ulster are divided into 690,000 Roman Catholics, 366,000 Episcopalians, 422,000 Presbyterians, 50,000 Methodists and about 50,000 of all other denominations. Geographically, these religious sections, with their reflected political differences, are so divided that four of the ten counties are Protestant and Unionists, four are Catholic and Nationalist, and two are approximately evenly divided. The four Unionist counties are in the northeast of the province and occupy about one-fourth of its territorial extent, although having half of its population. It is of these four northeastern counties, Londonderry, Belfast, Antrim and Down, with parts of Armagh, Tyrone and Donegal, that one writes when speaking of "Ulster" in the present political sense.

• • •

From these four counties are drawn the chief strength of the Ulster volunteers, but there are regiments from every one of the ten counties.

• • •

The Ulster volunteers came into existence more than two years ago, when the home rule bill was first introduced by the government. They planned then to resist its enforcement. During the whole of two years some men have been drilling, and very capable military men have been working on the plan of organization. Finally, when the divisions and regimental were planned, the word went out that recruits were wanted. More than a hundred thousand men offered, but only the best men, physically speaking, were taken, and now the force is so fully recruited that new volunteers are not needed.

• • •

After the gun-running of April it is believed that practically all of the hundred thousand men are armed with rifles, and it is known that there must be a great deal of ammunition in the country. How many machine guns and pieces of artillery the Ulstermen have obtained is a mystery. The Nationalists say that the Ulster artillery is a myth.

• • •

The regiments have been armed, have been drilled, have sent much time in target practice, and have been put through maneuvers of mobilization, forced marches and the like. Their drilling has had little of the parade ground stamp—it has been looking forward to actual fighting conditions. Uniforms they have none, a brasard of orange cloth on the sleeve telling the tale.

• • •

Colors have been presented to each regiment, and these have been blessed in the field with elaborate ceremony by the bishops of the Church of Ireland and the ministers of the Presbyterian church.

• • •

In Belfast county alone there are more than 40,000 soldiers. As practically all of them are working men, they drill in their improvised armories at night; but each of them for a certain number of days in the month is called on "active duty," when he goes off to the country to practice target shooting, or else to participate in some practice march or other maneuver.

• • •

At Easter Sir Edward Carson reviewed 30,000 troops in the grounds of Lord Castlereaugh's demesne. This feudal park has been turned over to the volunteers as a training ground. Lord Londonderry himself commands the North Belfast troops, 8,000 in number.

• • •

It was for these men that the "Fanny," with her contraband cargo of arms and ammunition, made her exciting voyage from some German or Scandinavian port.

• • •

Let no one mistake the temper of the rank and file of the volunteers. The leader may, at the last moment, consent to compromise to avoid the horror of civil war, but there is no horror that can compare with home rule in the excited minds of these people.

• • •

They believe that home rule means their utter ruin, the destruction of their liberty, property and faith—even their lives. They have resolved to fight.

• • •

The leaders who have encouraged them, organized them, financed them, may find that Ulster volunteers are not to be controlled by considerations of political expediency.

• • •

The volunteers have been encouraged by the aristocracy of their own country and of England, by the Protestant clergy, by the Conservative press, and by their business and political leaders.

• • •

They have been organized by military men, retired officers of the British army, some of them, and by other men who can always be found for work of that sort.

• • •

They have been financed by the combined aristocracy and plutocracy of Ireland and of England. Foes of home rule in Ireland have joined with enemies of the Liberal government in England to provide the money.

• • •

How much has been raised and spent no one knows, but it must be a great deal. It costs money to buy arms for an army that is already bigger than the standing army of the United States. One Irish peer, a man engaged in the brewing trade, who was given a title by the last Unionist government, made one contribution of $500,000, and said that he might be called on for more. The most careful estimates are made that the volunteer movement has already cost as much as $50,000,000. And this in spite of the fact that the men have been paying most of their own expenses, even when on "active duty" in the country.

SEWER IN FOURTH WARD CAN'T GET BOND MONEY

Chairman Quillian and Alderman Kelly Block Move to End North Side Nuisance

The proposal to take $55,000 from an unexpended balance in the late $3,000,000 bond issue and use it to extend the Butler street and Highland avenue sewers has been withdrawn for the time being by the Fourth ward delegation in council because of opposition from Chairman F. A. Quillian, of the bond commission, and Alderman C. H. Kelley, of the Second ward.

Alderman Kelley opposes the proposition on the ground that it undertakes to give the north side more than the south side is getting. Chairman Quillian opposes it on the ground that the bond balance must be divided among several sewers, all of which are as badly in need of attention as the Butler street and Highland avenue.

Alderman Albert Thomson, of the Fourth ward, who went before the bond commission and finance committee of council Thursday afternoon to advocate the proposition, declared, after hearing from Alderman Kelley, that "if the miscreable sectional issue is to be injected into the matter he would withdraw the proposition." The sewer work has sufficient money to keep it running for several months, and Alderman Thomson will wait until this has been expended and then try again to get some of the bond balance.

Virtually two June apportionment sheets will go to council Thursday afternoon, although the difference between them involves not more than $15,000.

Alderman Kelley wants this amount for the South Pryor street regrading project, while Councilman Humphrey, the chairman of the finance committee, wants it for the school department, to carry out thep reliminary steps in the reorganization plan recently adopted by the board of education. It will be up to council to say where the money shall be used.

BEAVERS PLANS WAR ON IVY STREET CHARACTERS

Will Hold House Owners Responsible for Having Disreputable Tenants

"The owners and agents of property on Ivy street who permit their houses to be leased to disreputable women are amenable to the law, and I am going to take steps against them if they deliberately continue to lease to disreputable tenants," said Chief of Police Beavers Thursday.

He said that but few complaints have come in concerning houses on Ivy street, and that they should be eliminated, and his men would continue to make raids whenever they get evidence to justify it.

"Many quiet raids have been made recently on Ivy street, and many other persons of disreputable fame have been persuaded to leave the street after I have talked to them and warned them that arrest would surely follow if they remained. So there are not so many disorderly houses on Ivy street after all," said the chief, "and each of these will go in the future as in the past as soon as we spot them."

Chief Beavers said he had asked the cooperation of owners and agents; and that he was going to take steps against them if they knowingly continue to allow disreputable people to take their houses.

Wednesday night a raid was made at 104-A Ivy street by two plainclothes officers, and three persons were arrested.

It is said that a petition is being circulated along Ivy street among the respectable residents asking Mayor Woodward to drive out the disreputable people living there.

Atlanta Grocer got himself in Trouble because he could not satisfy the ladies until he furnished them Dolly Varden Flour. White as the Driven Snow. (Advt.)

SECOND FRANK MOTION COMES UP ON FRIDAY

state is one from Judge L. S. Roan, the trial judge, and much of the case will hinge on his affidavit.

Judge Hill has stated that he may admit oral testimony on the motion and it is likely tahr Attorneys Luther Z. Rosser and Reuben R. Arnold, who represented Frank at the trial, will be called upon to testify. They took no part in the filing of the motion to set aside, which was brought into court by Attorneys John L. Tye, Henry Peeples, Herbert J. and Leonard Haas, and Harry A. Alexander.

MAN CONDEMNED TO DIE IS GIVEN BRIEF RESPITE

In order that he may look further into the case, Governor John M. Slaton Wednesday afternoon granted a respite of three weeks to John Wright, convicted in Fannin county of the murder of two-year-old Lydia Hughes, and sentenced to hang Friday of this week.

Though the prison commission recommended commutation to life imprisonment, the solicitor has not given his consent, and the governor found it necessary to go more fully into the facts in the case.

Attorney B. L. Smith, representative in the house from Fannin, appeared for the condemned man.

Pageant and Parade Will Be an Interesting Feature of Closing Week at Local College

Georgia Tech's campus will out-Mardi Gras Canal street next Tuesday evening, out-Coney Coney, put Shrine week in the shade and adopt the word carnival for its own dictionary.

It's the pageant, the commencement celebration that precedes the junior promenade and will be the gayest of all college festivals Atlanta has ever seen.

The pageant is planned as a burlesque Coney Island, with side shows, barkers, a midway, marvelous sword-swallowers and snake-eaters and every other device and contraption that the undergraduate mind can conceive.

Already the dormitories, the chapter houses, and the homes of friends and foes have been swept clean of anything that will make a costume. Old ball fancies, dominoes, masques, maidenly modes, convict clothes, police uniforms, suffragette skirts, have been gathered for the carnival and the result will be a conglomerate mass of color, foolishness and fun.

All those who take part in the celebration Monday night will parade the streets of Atlanta Tuesday afternoon in costume, including the members of the famous "T" club.

DR. WILMER ANNOUNCES DECISION NEXT SUNDAY

Younger Leaders of Parish Urge Him Not to Accept Sewanee Professorship

An informal visitation by about sixty of the younger leading members of St. Luke's parish was made Wednesday night on the rector, Dr. C. B. Wilmer, at his home to urge that he decline the invitation to a professorship at Sewanee university and that he remain with St. Luke's.

Major F. C. Callaway, Chessley B. Howard, P. G. Hanahan, J. E. Wilhelm, Joseph C. Logan and others were spokesmen for the visitors. They declared Dr. Wilmer is needed not only by the parish but by the whole of Atlanta, and that his field of work is much broader here than it could be in a chair at the university.

Dr. Wilmer thanked his callers for the honor they paid him, and promised his answer will be announced at the morning service in St. Luke's next Sunday.

Dr. Wilmer went to Sewanee Thursday, at the request of Bishop Knight, to look over the situation there and confer with the authorities of the university.

That man is educationally fastidious, we need wait no longer to discover. That he is largely delighted with the privilege of arraying himself in silks is a prominent fact.

That the silk shirts that please him ("him" meaning all men) are at Muse's is the equally pronounced and unexaggerated truth.

If such a bland and broad statement needs the assertive force of proofs, look in our window and see.

Fine, smooth silks, soft crepe-y silks; silks of color, silks of pure white. Colors that contrast strikingly, colors that blend soothingly; rich, luxurious garments that make a man remember that he is a gentleman—a very lucky gentleman—every time he puts one on.

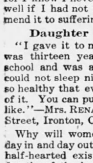
WOMAN COULD NOT SIT UP

Now Does Her Own Work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her.

Ironton, Ohio.—"I am enjoying better health now than I have for twelve years. When I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I could not sit up. I had female troubles and was very nervous. I used the remedies a year and I can do my work and for the last eight months have worked for other women, too. I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough for I know I never would have been as well if I had not taken it and I recommend it to suffering women."



Daughter Helped Also.

"I gave it to my daughter when she was thirteen years old. She was in school and was a nervous wreck, and could not sleep nights. Now she looks so healthy that even the doctor speaks of it. You can publish this letter if you like."—Mrs. RENA BOWMAN, 161 S. 10th Street, Ironton, Ohio.

Why will women continue to suffer day in and day out and drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

BATTEY-STEWART WEDDING BEAUTIFUL HOME EVENT

Miss Frances Josephine Stewart and Dr. Hugh Inman Battey were married at 9 o'clock Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Caroline Robinson Stewart, on West Peachtree street.

The wedding was characterized by charming simplicity, witnessed by the large family connection and a limited number of intimate friends, with Bishop Warren A. Candler, of the Methodist church, as the officiating clergyman.

The beauty and stateliness of the Easter lily expressed the dominant note in the decoration of the drawing room, where the impressive ceremony took place. Tall palms formed a background for the improvised altar and at each side were brass candelabra flanked by white wicker baskets filled with Easter lilies and asparagus fern. White satin ribbons held by Master Bernard Bonney, nephew of the bridegroom, and James D. Robinson, Jr., formed an aisle through which the members of the bridal party passed, descending from the stairway across the reception hall to the place of ceremony.

Mrs. Blair Armstrong was her sister's matron of honor, with Miss Eloise Stewart, another sister, and Miss Adrienne Battey, sister of the bridegroom, as bridesmaids. Little Miss Jean Hollingsworth Stewart was the flower girl, wearing a dainty lingerie frock with ruffle and bows of pale pink satin ribbon, and carrying a green leaf basket suspended from the shoulders, filled with delicate pink rose petals, which were scattered in the path of the bride.

The matron of honor wore pink chiffon and pink taffeta, and the bridesmaids were gowned in charming bouffant models of pink taffeta revealing an underskirt of filmy white lace arranged in flounces. The beautiful bridal bouquets were pink sweet peas showered with valley lilies.

Master Stewart Roberts bore the ring, and serving as best man to his brother, was Mr. George Magruder Battey, Jr.

The bride entered with her brother, Mr. Adgar Stewart, of Louisville, Ky., and made a graceful and lovely picture in her wedding robe of white satin veiled in white chiffon and tulle, and trimmed in Irish lace and tiny clusters of orange blossoms. A soft lace frill made a frame for the becoming arrangement of the wedding veil caught with a chaplet of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of valley lilies.

Reception Follows Ceremony.

Following the ceremony a reception was held. In contrast to the stately clusters of Easter lilies used in the drawing room delicate pink and white sweet peas and fragrant gardenias formed the decorations in the other apartments of the attractive home. They were banked on the mantels and cabinets and filled bowls and vases showing softly under the glow of many brightly-burning candles.

The approach to the house and the canvas-enclosed porch were lighted by tiny colored electric globes gleaming underneath the foliage of trees and vines. Punch was served on the veranda by Miss Anne Selden, of Washington, D. C.; Miss Sallie Fannie Gleaton, of Conyers; Miss Mary Robinson and Miss Nellie Kiser Stewart.

The bride's mother was gowned in black chantilly lace over black charmeuse, the bodice of chiffon and lace. Mrs. George Battey, mother of the bridegroom, wore a beautiful gown of black charmeuse with touches of white lace, and Mrs. George Bonney, sister of the bridegroom, wore a lovely toilet of lace and chiffon over white satin charmeuse.

The three sisters of the bride were beautifully gowned, Mrs. G. Kearsley Selden wearing white satin charmeuse with corsage of lace and tulle; Mrs. Adgar Stewart, of Louisville, in cream lace and tulle over white satin, and Mrs. Walter Parley Roberts, of Utica, N. Y., gowned in pink satin and white lace.

Dr. Battey and his bride left for a stay of ten days in the mountains of North Carolina, and will return home for a short visit before sailing the middle of July for a trip abroad.

LITTLE STORIES FOR BEDTIME

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

'Twas just a sudden old surprise,
Made Farmer Brown's boy's hair to rise.

That's a funny thing for hair to do rise up all of a sudden—isn't it? But that is just what the hair on Farmer Brown's boy's head did the day he went fishing in the Laughing Brook and had no luck at all. There are just two things that make hair rise—anger and fear. Anger sometimes makes the hair on the back and the neck of Bowser the Hound and of some other little people bristle and stand up, and you know the hair on the tail of Black Pussy stands on end until her tail looks twice as big as it really is. Both anger and fear make it do that. But there is only one thing that can make the hair on the head of Farmer Brown's boy rise, and as it isn't anger, of course it must be the other thing—fear.

It never happened before. You see, there isn't much of anything that Farmer Brown's boy is really afraid of. Perhaps it wouldn't have happened this time if it hadn't been for the surprise of what he found. You see, he had patiently fished down the Laughing Brook through the Green Forest without once getting so much as a nibble, and this seemed very, very queer to him, for it never had happened before. Then he had found the heads of some trout on the bank, and this had seemed very queer, too, because they had been bitten off and not cut off with a knife. He knew right away that some one else had been fishing and that was why he couldn't catch any, but the only fisherman he could think of who might bite off the heads of the trout was Billy Mink, and he had never known Billy to do it before, and leave them lying around that way. Besides, it didn't seem possible that little Billy Mink could have eaten all those trout. He didn't once think of Little Joe Otter, and so he was very, very much puzzled.

He was turning it all over in his mind and studying what it could mean, when he came to a little muddy place on the bank of the Laughing Brook, and there he saw something that made his eyes as if they would pop right out of his head. It was right then that he felt his hair rise. Anyway, that is what he said when he told about it afterward. What was it he saw? What do you think? Why, it was a footprint in the soft mud. Yes, sir, that's what it was and all it was. But it was the biggest footprint Farmer Brown's boy ever had seen, and it looked as if it had been made only a few minutes before. It was the footprint of Buster Bear.

Now, Farmer Brown's boy didn't know that Buster Bear had come down to the Green Forest to live. He never had heard of a bear being in the Green Forest. And he was so surprised that he had hard work to believe his own eyes, and he had a queer feeling all over, a little chilly feeling, although it was a warm day. Somehow he didn't feel like meeting Buster Bear. The very thought made his hair rise. If he had had his terrible gun with him it might have been different. But he didn't, and so he suddenly made up his mind that he didn't want to fish any more that day. He had a funny feeling that he was being watched, although he couldn't see any one. He was being watched. Little Joe Otter and Buster Bear were watching him and taking the greatest care to keep out of his sight.

All the way home through the Green Forest Farmer Brown's boy kept looking behind him, and he didn't draw a long breath until he reached the edge of the Green Forest. He hadn't run, but he had wanted to.

"Huh!" said Buster Bear to Little Joe Otter, "I believe he was afraid!"

And Buster Bear was just exactly right.

What Anne Rittenhouse Says

The Word Sport Has Been Applied to Many New Summer Clothes and It Has Developed a Wide Range of Fashions.

NEW YORK—The American has always found it difficult to describe certain kinds of clothes worn for all those occasions that took one into the open.

We have called them outing clothes and country clothes or designated them by specific words as tennis, yachting, motoring, riding. But all of a sudden, light broke in the sartorial heavens, and we learned the happiness and convenience of using the single word "sport" for all this mass of clothing.

The word saves so much time. It explains everything. It gives the shop something to advertise each month, and the dressmakers something to design. It helps every one all along the line.

We have sport coats, sport capes, sport suits and hats and collars, shirtwaists and cravats, shoes and now sport stockings. One of the biggest hosiery men in New York has introduced a new kind of sport stockings that the rich women are greedily buying up at $7 a pair—which may go to show that there is money somewhere, if not in Wall street.

Sport Hat from Panama.

There was never any doubt in the minds of those who follow fashions that the canal zone would soon furnish its quota of names and designs, if not of fabrics.

The Panama hat has been a part of our apparel for decades, but its fashion has swung to and fro like a pendulum. Now it promises to be wrongly revived.

The Panama canal is open and the entire world is discussing it along with the Mexican imbroglio—the president does not like his loyal subjects to use the word war.

The sketch shows the very smart type of Panama hat that American girls will wear when they go a-sporting, which in this case means the taking of healthy exercise. It will be used for riding, for tennis, for the boat and for mornings in the country with white shirtwaists and linen skirts.

The crown is quite high, without a dent, and the brim is lined with black. There is a black and white band around the crown finished without a bow at the side.

You will notice that a man's collar and an old-fashioned black taffeta cravat is worn in addition to this hat. Each week there is an increase in the fashion for the cravat and the high starched collars.

In Paris, the women are wearing collars of this shape of double muslin with a hemstitched band at the edge and two wings in front, all of which is starched to stand erect.

Along with these Panama hats go very swagger sport coats made of heavily ribbed corduroy in brilliant colors such as orange, king's blue, mustard, cherry red. They are fashioned after the Deauville coats of last summer worn at the races that is loose and broad, the raglan sleeves finished with wide turnover cuffs at the wrist, and a loose belt placed around the hips through slides of the material.

MRS. DANDRIDGE, AUTHOR, ENDS LIFE WITH GUN

OUR ASTROLOGER

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

HOROSCOPE FOR FRIDAY, JUNE 5, 1914.

Astrologers find this a doubtful day in which they warn wise men and women against their fates to the test. Mars and Uranus are in places strongly adverse, while Saturn is unfriendly.

There is a sinister omen for peace. Both the army and navy are subject to a rule indicating severe hardships. Suffering from heat and bad climatic conditions is foreshadowed.

Uranus, the planet which is supposed to exercise a separative or explosive power, gives warning of unexpected accidents. Bombs and shells are to be dreaded especially under this government of the planet.

Great drains on public funds are indicated. These are not all due to naval or military operations, the seers declare. Losses and destruction through riots, strikes and storms are foretold.

Hospitals and institutions for the relief of sufferings are under the most prosperous of conditions. Endowments and large benefits will accrue to them.

Wars in the fourth house denotes unsettled and unusual weather. Floods are again predicted. Shipping is under a rule that is not propitious.

Parents are counselled to be watchful of children, as the stars threaten illness and accidents in an extraordinary number. Boating will be especially dangerous for the young.

Sedition and insurrection in western China are prophesied. The emperor of Japan is under the sway of a malefic planet, which indicates danger of personal injury.

Persistent foreshadowing of trouble in postoffice affairs is announced by astrologers. Anxiety for the postmaster general is presaged by the stars.

Teachers and educators have the most encouraging indications for the summer. It is probable that the next year will be advantageous, especially for those who belong to the west.

Young clergymen are fortunate under the astral government this year, for the planets give promise of "new fields of endeavor" and changed conditions.

Persons whose birthdate it is are counseled to be extremely sagacious in the use of money the coming year. Changes are badly aspected. The young probably will become engaged or will marry.

Children born on this day are likely to be extremely kind and gentle in nature. The tendency will be toward a too great fondness for company and amusement. Girls may talk too much.

Crackers Win Third Straight Game from Bills

Locals Cop Last Game of Series From Bills, 6-2—Elliott Dent Pitches in Fine Form, Crackers Hit Black Hard

BY RALPH RODDY.

The Crackers made it three straight wins from the Billikens Wednesday afternoon by taking the last game of the series, 6-2. Elliott Dent was in fine form and held the visitors safe all the way.

Manager Gilks sent Southpaw Black to the mound for the Bills, but the portside heaver failed to hurt up to his standard.

The locals found his offerings easy and pulled out several extra base hits. He also issued several free passes. In the fourth inning Dent hit a grounder in front of the plate, which Black fielded and threw to the bags in right field, Dent scoring on the play.

The game was started at 2:45 o'clock and was called at 4:30 o'clock to allow the Bills to catch an early train for Memphis.

The Rexall druggists, for whose entertainment the game was transferred to Atlanta, turned out in large numbers to witness the contest.

The real feature of the game was the pitching of Dent. The big heaver was master of the situation at all times and was given brilliant support by his fellow Crackers.

Amby McConnell pulled some sensational fielding at second.

The Bills scored first, putting over one in the initial round. Dent walked Hollander, who reached third on two infield outs and counted when Snedecor poled out a three-base drive to left field.

The Crackers tied the count in the second. Jennings beat out a slow roller to Hollander and scored when Flanagan doubled to the bull sign in right field.

In the third round McConnell and Elbel were walked, McConnell stole second and went to third when Long forced Elbel out at second. Long stole second and when Donahue pegged wild McConnell raced home. Welchonce scored Long with a three-base drive to the scoreboard.

In the fourth Dent hit a roller in front of the plate and scored when Black threw the ball to the signs in right field. Black walked McConnell, who stole and scored on Kircher's hit to left.

The Bills shoved across one run in their half of the fourth on Elwert's double and Gribbens' single.

The locals put over another in the sixth. McConnell walked, reached second on Kicher's out, went to third when Gribbens booted Elbel's grounder and scored on Long's single.

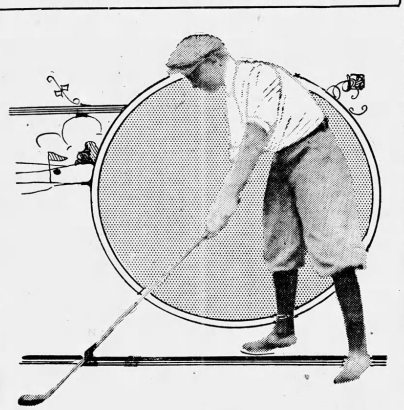
PERRY ADAIR DEFEATS FATHER IN 19-HOLE MATCH



PERRY ADAIR.

BY MILT SAUL.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 4.—George and Perry Adair, father and son, furnished the real feature of the southern championship golf tournament when they played against each other Wednesday in the match play to see which should go into the first flight to battle for the championship cup. Perry, the boy, won out over the elder seasoned tournament player, but only after the match had gone nineteen holes and had furnished an afternoon full of thrills to a gallery of 200 or more veteran golfers and their families.

It was the most brilliant match played in the tournament to date, both contestants making 79 on the 18 holes, and neither being out of striking distance of the victory until Perry laid his father a fatal stymie on the nineteenth hole, which caused Mr. Adair to make a five for the hole. There was a great outburst of cheering from the big gallery when Mr. Adair, one of the gamest and most popular players in the south, embraced the boy as he sunk his own ball in the cup for a four and then went into the first flight to play such noted veterans of the game as Nelson Whitney, Rebuen Bush, George Rotan, Jack Edrington, Lewis Jacoby and others of their distinguished standing.

READY FOR STAR GOLFERS.

The little hero of the day modestly accepted the congratulations of the crowd and then ducked out of sight into the club house for a lemonade, declaring as he drank it that he was sorry he had put his father out of the championship flight, but that he was ready to do his best now in the battle to bring the big cup home.

Those who followed the match would not be surprised in the least to see the lad at least in the semi-finals, for he seems to have found the Memphis course exactly suited to his long straight drives, his iron and mashie play and his deadly putting.

He would have made a 76 today but for a couple of stymie his father laid him, one on the first and one on the fifteenth hole.

The amateur record here is 71, made by Edrington, of Memphis, two years ago and never equaled until today when Commodore Heard, a sixty-year-old golfer from Houston, Tex., negotiated the course in that number on Monday.

FULL STORY OF MATCH.

Starting out late in the afternoon of a day that had been marked by brilliant playing on the part of a dozen golfers, the match between Mr. Adair and his son attracted at first very little attention. This was on account of the fact that the two, only an hour before starting, had defeated their opponents and it was not generally known that the drawings for the day had placed them in position to play against each other in case of morning victories by each.

Only Bob Jones, pulling for Perry, started out with them, and even he thought it would be a tame match when Mr. Adair halved the first and won the next three holes by playing par golf. At the fifth hole, however, Perry got his fighting spirit up, halved that hole with a four and promptly won the next three in less than par, squaring the match at the eighth. They halved the ninth and it was then that the crowd began to realize that a nip and tuck match was on between a father and son, a coincident never before existing in championship tournaments in this country.

A large gallery quickly formed at the tenth tee, which is at the club house, most of whom knew Mr. Adair personally and had heard of Perry's prowess as a golfer.

They halved the tenth, Perry won the eleventh, making him one up. They halved the twelfth and Perry would have won the thirteenth with a four but for a stymie laid for him at the cup by his father from off the green. As it was they halved it in fives. They halved the fourteenth and Mr. Adair won the fifteenth, squaring the match again.

The gallery by this time contained every golf player at the club except those who were engaged in their matches, and besides these there were many interested spectators who had quit following even the championship Waitinger as battled for his chance at the cup. The intensely interested crowd seemed to spur the two players to even greater efforts, for they played thr three remaining holes of eighteen with a precision that made the gallery cheer every shot.

BOTH FIGHT TO WIN.

Each unquestionably was fighting for the victory, for they stung the balls for 250 yard drives, played midiron shots of a 180 yards squarely on to the green and took only two putts at each cup. Perry had his father squarely on the defensive with his long drives and perfectly executed iron shots, and it required the best golf the seasoned veteran had in him to keep up the pace.

On the eleventh, seventeenth and eighteenth holes their drives were not twenty yards away from each other and they both negotiated these difficult holes in three, four, and four respectively.

The match became a sensation when it passed the eighteen hole all square. Several afternoon tea parties on the club veranda and a dozen or more tennis games were broken up because every one wanted to see the father and son playing against each other, and of course everybody wanted to see the boy win. They reached the tee on the nineteenth hole in the midst of a stale of suppressed excitement on the part of the gallery, but both were perfectly cool and apparently unmoved at the intense interest of those around the tee.

AT THE NINETEENTH.

Mr. Adair's drive went across the green, a distance of 221 yards away, but stopped on the edge. While Perry had his club in the air on the back swing someone shouted for him to wait as a couple were on the green. This disconcerted the boy, for he sliced in between two hunters a moment later when he drove off. He used a niblick to get out, and executed a most difficult shot in beautiful fashion, for the ball rolled on the green four or five yards from the cup.

Mr. Adair was short with his approach putt and it was then that Perry laid him the fatal stymie by rolling his ball up to within a foot of the cup but squarely in the line of his father's putt. Mr. Adair made a desperate effort to putt around it, struck it and then had another stymie, this one laid by himself. He took two more putts for a five and then Perry ended the agony by sinking his putt for a four.

W. H. Rowan gave the crowd another thrill during the afternoon by defeating Munger, of Dallas, the low medalist of the qualifying round. He did it with such neatness and dispatch that many regard him as a real contender for the cup.

Crackers Play Pelicans Today

Johnny Dobbs and his flock of Pelicans will make their first appearance of the season at Ponce de Leon park this afternoon. This will be the second time the Pels and Crackers have met this year. The Pelicans won three of the four games played in New Orleans recently.

Leo Frank, former manager of the Pels will be the guest of honor at today's game. A handsome silver trophy purchased by Atlanta fans will be given Frank just before the game starts to show their appreciation of what he did last season when he defeated the Mobile Gulls in the final game of the season thereby winning the pennant for the Crackers.

Wilson, who twirled against the Gulls in the memorable game last year will probably be pitted against the Crackers and will be opposed by Jack Doescher, the locals' star southpaw.

Festivities will start at 3:30 o'clock.

Short Jabs

Hank O'Day says the jinx that crowned him at Cincinnati still is pursuing him. Yea, Ongri, the same kind of jinx.

By the way, is aujinx the feminine of jinx?

A Chicago sport writer refers to Ongri O'Day as an "ex-veteran," which perhaps is a delicate manner of informing Hank that he is through.

A casual glance at Willie Ritchie's lamps indicates that Charlie White wanted to put up some crepe-for Decoration day.

Mr. Kommers, who kicked an ump in the slats, may be preparing to have John McGraw try to tempt him to jump.

Charlie White says it took him two years to find his left hook; but Willie Ritchie didn't seem to have any trouble in finding his right one.

Ouimet may have lost in England, but he toped Topping in France.

It's all right for some of those fellows to be fresh from college, but not too fresh.

There is little satisfaction in winning on a technicality, but it beats losing on a technicality all to pieces.

Gulls Trounce Chickasaws, 6-1

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 4.—Memphis had the batting honors in Wednesday's game, but Mobile made their hits count for runs and won 6 to 1, a clean sweep of the series. Errors helped Mobile to several runs.

Barons Split Double Bill

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 4.—Birmingham and Chattanooga broke even in two hotly contested pitchers' battles here Wednesday, the visitors winning the first, 2 to 1, and the locals the second, 3 to 2. Great work by the Birmingham infield, especially Eliam, helped Brown in the first game. A running catch by Jacobsen cut off two Birmingham runs in the second game, and a sensational stop by Flick with the bases full helped stop a Birmingham rally in the ninth.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 4.—Outplaying Nashville in every department, New Orleans won both games of a double-header Wednesday afternoon, getting an even break for the series. The scores were 8 to 2 and 10 to 6. Bagby pitched the ball in the first game, while Kroh was knocked out of the box. In the second game, Nashville staged an eighth-inning rally, which scored five runs, but a great running catch by Northern with the bases full retired the side. The hitting of Sloan and Hendryx featured both games. The game was called on account of darkness at the end of the first half of the ninth inning.

Lookouts Get Quarders

CHICAGO, April 4.—President Comiskey, of the Chicago Americans, today announced the release of Charles Quarders, infielder, to the Chattanooga club of the Southern association.

Journal Team Lost to Grocers

The crack baseball team of The Journal lost its first league game of the season Wednesday afternoon at Grant park to the Associated Grocers by the tight score of 7 to 6.

Its initial defeat makes The Journal tied with the Postoffice for the leadership of the Gate City league. These two teams meet two weeks from Wednesday.

Wednesday's game was a grand little battle until the third when Osborne's support fled to the bushes. In the next four sessions the Journal boys blew up completely, made twelve errors and never got down form the clouds.

Both sides clouted the pellet severely, smashing out fourteen eram bingles apiece. With bobbles and bingles galore, the game soon resolved itself into a riot in which everybody kept the scorer busy with the hits and error columns.

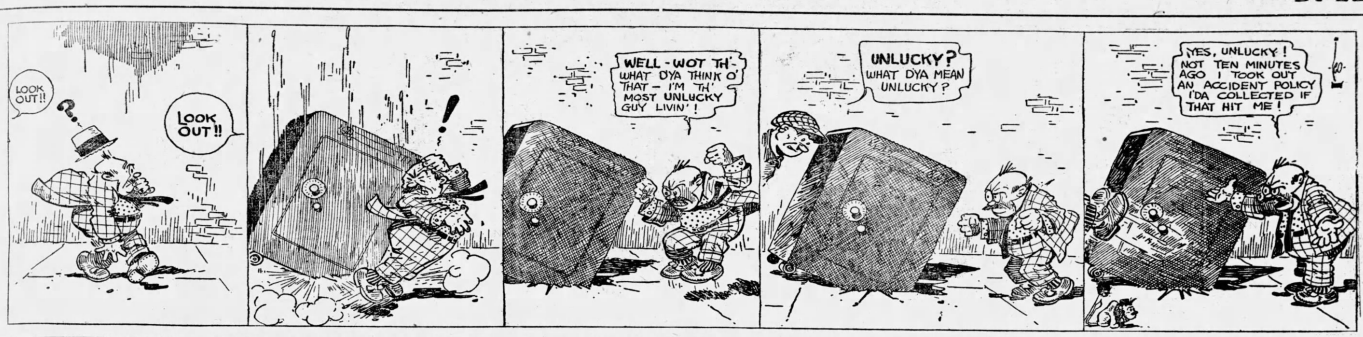
Organized Ball Gains First Verdict in Johnson Case---Feds to Appeal

LITTLE PAL---HIS LUCK IS GONE -BY LEO



THE SPORTLIGHT
BY GRANTLAND RICE

BUSH-LEAGUERS.

We know that Alexander was an eminent commander—
That old Dee Cesar had a kick in either agile hoof;
We know that both were rated up with nonpareils undated,
And we're quite prepared, if challenged, to elucidate the proof;
And yet, with all their leadership, equipment and decision,
They never hauled the Grandold Reds up in the first division.

You have often heard the story of Napoleonic glory,
And how the doughty Wellington frankbakered mighty Nap;
These two will live forever in the Annals of Endeavor
As they appertain to battle or the essence of a scrap;
But though I'm not inclined to knock a bleke who's passed away,
Did either keep the Reds up in the flag race after May?

The historian who first wrote, "There is nothing new beneath the sun," somewhere out in the Shadowland, must have smiled with satisfaction as he saw Giants and Athletics glide back into the lead—pointed toward another October.

Here June is only tumbling across the threshold and already we are beginning to inhale fragments of the annual argument as to whether McGraw will start Matty against Bender or whether Mack will open with Plank against Tesreau.

CORNELL IN FRONT.

If Cornell ever started winning football championships her case would quickly come under the grip of the Sherman anti-trust law. For, in other respects—on track, field and water—her mastery is about complete. Not even Harvard, with her Brickley and Mahan in football, stands as high in all-round athletic achievement as the Ithacan stronghold.

Cornell undoubtedly is better in more athletic ways and devices than any other American university. She carries a greater variety of athletic skill, and it's just as well that her football machines are not quite up to her track teams and her crews. Otherwise there would be little intercollegiate competition.

Cornell may come in for a bit of spoofing through the fall, but all spoofing ceases when her runners reach the track and her crews reach for their oars. The spoofing is then shifted to the other side of the hedge.

Michigan, 29 1-2; Hardvard, 7 1-2. But in this competition there was no football set adrift in the vicinity of Mr. Brickley's toe.

"My club," C. Mack told a friend recently, "wasn't going at its proper speed this spring." As a result of which defect it was not able to reach any higher than first place as spring passed out. Whereat the query arises as to what will become of that prophesied old-fashioned, five-club American league flag race once the Athletics get to playing some regular ball and exhibiting true form?

TOUGH SITUATION.

Buck Herzog has forced Prof. Herrmann and the Red directorate into a tough situation—not to say an unwieldly predicament. If Buck continues at his present speed the Red directorate will have the deuce of a time this fall attaching the can to the Contsloup King. It will be hard to can a leader producing such a variety of acceptable goods.

And yet tradition and the force of habit must have their say. Firing the incumbent manager has been a fall and winter pastime in Redland for a number of epochs. It has been one of the greatest sports of the city. Has developed, in fact, into a civic institution.

Each fall Redland fanatics have waited eagerly to hear the name of the next victim. They have waited with a longing and a thrill. And now here comes Herzog and threatens to disperse an old landmark, a cherished institution, a looked-for event. It will be a long, hard winter for the Red directors this year unless Herzog collapses. They may not even be kept out in the open air.

If Herzog remains around the top, Messrs. Hanlon, Kelley, Ganzel, Griffith, O'Day and Tinker may bring charges against him for violating the rules of the order. Herzog apparently doesn't care a rap for established precedent and cherished tradition.

THE LONE HERO.

"Who is the most dangerous offensive player in the game?" asks K. H. "Baker, Crawford, Collins or Cobb?"

We should say Ping Bodie, who is dangerous to both clubs, while the others named are only dangerous to the enemy.

FLAG CAMPAIGNERS.

McGraw may not have a world series machine able to cope with Mack's people, but no one can take away from him the credit for assembling a cluster of rough riding troopers for a pennant campaign.

He has a ball club that through several years has cut its way to the lead in hostile territory and has come on from behind out on the road. The Giants are sure to do as well on the road as at home, and a few reverses have never been able to throw them back. They get another start and keep on coming. All of which is due to wonderful organization, and to the makeup of a club that, while not brilliant, is well balanced, powerful in no one department and weak in none, but equally arranged on offense and defense; and generally out there in the game with the dust stirred up.

Sir: Don't you count the victory of an American horse in the English Derby a point in America's favor in the international summing up?

S. L. R.

Nix. The international Standing of the Clubs is already complicated enough without introducing the equine element. And there'll be enough of the latter in the polo carnival next week.

This has been a bad year for Walter Johnson, just as it has been an off season for the Mackmen. So far Johnson hasn't done anything but win more games than any other pitcher in either league.

SHARP SPORT JABS

They are now saying Frank Chance is a big man in New York. Frank is pretty big any place—six foot or more.

England may have the best golfers, but it can't beat a Connie Mack or a Germany Schaefer.

Francis Ouimet says when he plays into a bunker he feels like begging its pardon, as it is his fault, not the bunker's.

The golfers we have heard never said anything like that.

Willie Ritchie says: "I was the biggest boob in the world in my fight with White," but at the same time he had the 10,000 beans stored away in his jeans.

Organized Ball Wins Verdict

Courts Rule That Chief Johnson Cannot Play With Any Ball Club Except Cincinnati. Feds to Appeal Case

CHICAGO, June 4.—First blood in the battle over "Chief" Johnson—a battle that promises to reach its final decision only in the highest courts—was scored by organized baseball Wednesday when Judge Foell, upholding every contention of the Cincinnati National league club, made permanent the injunction which prevented the pitcher from playing with the Federal league.

It was generally reported that wholesale desertion of players it organized baseball to the independents would follow a decision favoring the Federals.

The Federals, represented by the Kansas City club, for which Johnson deserted the Cincinnati team, took immediate steps for an appeal and announced that the pitcher would play in all Federal league towns except Chicago despite the injunction, which is effective only in Illinois.

August Herrman, Cincinnati president, declared suits would be filed in every other Federal league city to prevent Johnson's playing, and counsel for the Cincinnati club said civil damage suits against the pitcher and against the Kansas City club for sums segregating $30,000 would be "vigorously prosecuted."

A secret meeting of Federal league club owners was in progress here late today.

Amateur Moguls Meet in Paris

LYONS, France, June 4.—The congress of the International Amateur Athletic federation will open here today for the purpose of adopting standard rules and regulations to govern future amateur international athletic events throughout the world. On the findings of the present congress will probably depend the rules and program of the next olympic games. The rules and regulations adopted by the international federation will be submitted to the international olympic committee which meets at Paris June 13 and it is understood that the olympic committee will accept them. The delegates who already have arrived include representatives of Great Britain, Germany, Hungary, Sweden and the United States. The real work of the congress will not begin for several days, but the activities of the delegates start today with important committee meetings, at which the battle over international differences in athletics will be fought out.

Now Princeton defeated Yale at tennis, but Yale still has a chance to win the ping pong title.

One might say Willie Ritchie's championship pretensions are now floating down Roosevelt's river of doubt.

It's that way in clothes-making; with fine fabrics and the best of other materials, only an artist-designer gets the true style.

Racquet Stars In Semi-Finals

RICHMOND, Va., June 4.—T. R. Pell and Wylie Grant, both of New York, will enter the semi-finals in the men's singles of the Old Dominion Tennis tournament, the winner to meet Nat Thornton, of Atlanta, the cup holder. Miss Clare Cassell, of New York; Mrs. C. H. Beard, of East Orange, N. J., and Miss Mary Wagner, of New York, are the semi-finalists in the women's singles, the survivor to play Mrs. Connie Sullivan, of Richmond, for the championship.

Both Pell and Grant had easy sailing in disposing of their opponents yesterday, Pell taking care of Frank C. Lewis, of Norfolk, Va., 6-0, 6-2, and Grant disposing of A. J. Core, from Atlanta, Ga., 6-4, 6-2. Among the women, Miss Cassell had by far the hardest work, being opposed by Miss E. H. Moore, of Richmond, who played a steady and consistent game, Miss Cassell finally winning, 7-5, 4-6, 10-8. Miss Wagner disposed of Miss Mary Reed, 6-2, 6-1. In the doubles the Wright brothers, of Boston, defeated Thornton, of Atlanta, and Coke, of Richmond, while Grant and Pall found no opposition.

Aviators Establish Records With Aeroplanes

NEW YORK, June 4.—The Aero club of America has announced that hydro-aeroplane, or water flying records have been established for this country, governed by the same rules as those relating to land machines. Three records for aviator and one passenger were allowed to Adolph G. Sutro, of San Francisco, on a flight September 28, 1913, as follows.

Distance 33 1-2 miles; duration, 1 hour 15 minutes, 35 seconds; altitude, 750 feet.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Purchase by A. B. & A. of $110,000 Worth of Parcels on the West Side Near the Terminal Station Disclosed in Records — Sale of Poplar Street Lot — Plans Filed for Another Apartment House — $150,000 Exchange

The sale of small parcels of aggregate value of $110,000, which enabled the A. B. & A. railroad to gain physical connection with the Southern railway near the Terminal station, was yesterday disclosed in the recording of several warranty deeds and bonds for title.

J. H. Ewing, of Smith & Ewing, represented the railroad in the purchase of the various parcels last year, but the transaction did not become public until some of the papers went to record.

The A. B. & A. had two objects in getting the connection, one being to obtain direct access to the Terminal station, and the other was to participate with the Southern railway in the Walker street development.

The property which was bought fronts on Newton, Mangum and Foundry streets. A detailed description, with the price of each parcel, appears in the transfers below. The railroad will cross the streets on trestles.

Some of the property was taken in the name of E. T. Lamb, receiver, while the rest was taken in the names of C. G. Harris and S. H. Greenberg.

POPLAR STREET SALE.

A transfer of a bond for title went to record Wednesday conveying from R. R. Wood to Dr. E. G. Jones a lot 20x60 on Poplar street, sixty feet southwest of Fairlie street. The consideration was not disclosed.

ANOTHER APARTMENT.

Arch Cribbs on Thursday filed with Ed R. Hays, the building inspector, plans for the apartment house he will build at the southwest corner of North avenue and Williams street.

The building will be two stories, of brick veneer construction, and contain ten apartments. A. N. Canton is the architect. The cost will be $20,000 or more.

$50,000 EXCHANGE.

An exchange whose aggregate value is placed at $150,000 has just been announced. W. J. Gilbert and W. F. Lester, of the United Realty company, exchanged for Charles Hill a 300-acre tract adjoining College Park, with E. Smith & Co., of Dublin, for 2,450 acres of land in south Georgia. The value was $75,000 on each side.

The purchasers are going to open a subdivision of lots and small acreage tracts on their 300-acre tract near College Park.

CASH SALE.

W. L. & John O. DuPree have sold for the House and Home company to J. N. F. Neel, an out-of-town buyer, store property at the northwest corner of Boulevard and Hansell street. The consideration was $6,500 cash.

The property consists of two one-story brick stores, occupied by a grocery concern and a pharmacy, and is on lot 50x65. The stores are leased for $65 a month.

PREACHER WHO DEFENDED ROCKEFELLER GETS IN BAD

(By Associated Press.)

CLEVELAND, O., June 4.—Mrs. Albert H. Gilbert, president of the Home Protection Equal Suffrage club, has issued a call to wives of Cleveland union men to meet and march on the Euclid avenue Baptist church, known as the Rockefeller church, as a protest to a sermon preached last Sunday by the rector, Rev. John W. Bustard, in which he upheld John D. Rockefeller in refusing to act in the Colorado mine trouble.

The executive committee of the club will meet today to decide on which Sunday the women will march on the church.

According to Mrs. Gilbert these questions will be asked of Dr. Bustard at the service:

"What is the relation of Christ to the unions?" and "Are the Colorado mines conducted as Christ would have them conducted?"

OLD CROP MONTHS FIRM; NEW CROPS ARE LOWER

Market in New York Closed 6 Points Up to 8 Points Off From Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 4.—The cotton market opened barely steady at a decline of 11 to 7 points today in sympathy with lower Liverpool cables, but soon rallied by small trade buyers in the eastern belt. Offerings were not particularly heavy during the early part of the first two or three days, however, and the market held steady after the call, with the contract working back to last night's closing prices, but new crop deliveries rallied to within 2 or 3 points of that level on covering by recent sellers for a reaction and some trade buying.

Buying orders were executed on the early break, which carried prices 7 to 11 points net lower, but the market later steadied in spite of generally favorable weather with the crop position still selling 3 to 6 points net higher while the new crop months were 6 points to 8 points off from yesterday's close.

Old crop months were relatively firm during the early afternoon, selling about ten points net higher, but soon began buying and covering, while the new crop was steady and about 6 points off from the lowest.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, June 4.—Marked improvement in weather conditions over the belt caused selling on the opening of the cotton market today, but the buying by the trade in the more western belt which stimulated short selling. First prices were 10 to 12 points net lower. The decline was maintained in the early trading.

Later there was a rallying of 15 points, but fresh buying entered the market and at noon prices were 10 to 12 points lower than down compared with yesterday's close.

COTTON MARKET OPINIONS.

Thorn & Magnin, of New Orleans, say:

With a continuance of fair weather west of the river, sales on bulges looks best for the present.

Logan & Bryan: It looks as though the buying side during easy periods seems the logical one to follow.

Hubbard & Co.: We do not look for much further recession and think today's sellers will be the buyers tomorrow.

HAYWARD & CLARK COTTON LETTER

NEW ORLEANS, June 4.—The weather map shows better condition, a partly cloudy to cloudy west of the river, with local showers and no consequence over the western states but rather general showers east of the line from Texas to Louisiana. Mississippi and Alabama and western Georgia, localities are for unsettled with showery weather over the belt with prospects of more extended showery weather west of the river during the rest of the week. There is no change, however, in the weather situation again for a bad spell west by Sunday.

Liverpool was off on the opening and 1 high on spots with sales of only 4,000 bales, but was easy and 1 lower on the call, which was quite odd that continental longs had mostly liquidated.

The market lost 10 to 13 points in the early trading on the easier Liverpool and the favorable conditions but old crops soon steadied, conditions for old crops are well defined and unchanged.

Spots are not giving way and the demand is good for spots.

July New York near 13c is way below spot prices in the south.

Expectations of unfavorable comparisons with 1913 takings tomorrow are discounted owing to Lanacshire holidays mill takings will be small, but, after this week mill takings will increase again and will be large in two weeks, while after the present week the heavy crop reports arrive abroad.

The market, after dropping to 12.61 for October, met with a stronger demand on the idea that a reaction of 60 points is ample and there are increasing reports of weevil damage in the eastern belt, while the present recent receipts more than widespread precipitation over night east of the river with the exception of the extreme.

Spots are firm and entirely unaffected by the easiness of futures. Demand is good; offerings very restricted.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET FIRM IN LATE TRADING

Union Pacific, Smelters, Steel, Northern Pacific, Car Foundry and Can Led Advance

NEW YORK, June 4.—Execution of the small amount of orders on hand at the opening of today's session caused a slight reflect on the level of prices in most cases but the market soon rallying by small fractions but there were a few weak spots.

Union Pacific, Steel and Can led to 134, a new low figure for the movement. New Haven lost a point, the only decline in these active issues. Other changes were confined to fractions.

After a series of uncertain fluctuations the market became steadily stronger during the afternoon, but general buying was of small proportions.

Bonds were steady.

Buying for the long account in the afternoon became more of a factor, once the market had passed the initial hesitancy, and further progress was made. Despite the uncertain feeling displayed, foreign representatives bought 10,000 shares here. Time money rates shaded, notwithstanding a loss by the banks thus far this week of $5,000,000 and expectations of further gold exports.

Steel made a more definite response to the improved character of trade news. General list closed firm.

YOUR MONEY

When "Have Nots" Begin to Save.

By Wallace Irwin.

These are strange times to the old-fashioned observer of the financial health of the country!

First, he sees the deposits in the savings banks used by the very poor increasing at the rate of $1,000,000 a week, while the grocers and butchers and clothing merchants who serve the prosperous complain of getting deeper and deeper into debt. Next, he sees the sales of what he regards as luxuries and not the richer and higher.

He is puzzled.

Probably it means a shifting of incomes. He who today is living in nervous fear to support an automobile existence and a bicycle income will soon be in the wage-earning class, and the thrifty wage-earner who is living within his income and laying up money in a savings bank will rise to take the place of the other.

Mr. Have-Not is working with a much stronger purpose and a less worried mind than Mr. Have-More. He is afraid that it is to fear mere hunger and to value decent shelter. He means to insure himself against sickness and misery; he is going to see that his children are equipped to earn more than he has earned. He is going to be the most effective "reserve" a family can have—that against poverty.

Mr. Want-More is worrying about adding another non-essential to the list; he dreams of his children engaged in a genteel, highly profitable occupation; he thinks his daughters ought to marry money.

Of course, Mr. Want-More is going to be disappointed, for the supply of genteel and highly profitable jobs, and of rich young men, is strictly limited. When his smash comes he descends again into the poor grade and mutters against a badly adjusted fate, to the class where the problems are not financial but spiritual.

It is in just such a time as this that Mr. Have-Not sees his opportunity. With a comfortable balance in the savings bank, he is ready to take over Mr. Want-More's suburban house and lot. Perhaps he turns the whole into a two-family dwelling and rents half of it. In another two or three years he is ready to take another—Mr. Want-More's automobile (at a reduced price).

So the classes shift, and always the thrifty land on top.

Weather Conditions

Forecast until 7 p. m. Friday: Atlanta and vicinity: Unsettled tonight and Friday, probably thunderstorms.

Georgia and Alabama: Unsettled tonight and Friday, probably occasional thunderstorms.

A few stations in the eastern portion of the cotton belt reported light showers during the past twenty-four hours, mostly with thunderstorms. The weather is generally unsettled in the north under the influence of storms in central over Montana and the Dakotas, with an eastward propagation of a low atmospheric pressure over the lakes. General rains occurred from the Pacific slope northward in Texas and Oklahoma.

Temperatures are moderately high in the cotton belt; elsewhere no change in temperature has taken place.

Conditions continue favorable for local thunderstorms at Atlanta and vicinity.

C. F. von HERRMANN, Section Director.

INTERESTING NEWS AND GOSSIP OF THE MARKETS

Weather Reports, Crop Advices, Expert Opinions and Newspaper Comment

COTTON GOSSIP

Logan & Bryan say:

The recent action of the cotton market explains the reluctance of the trade to commit the speculative public of late years. Time was when a little favorable news that was not discounted by bullish news that was already known to the public by the time it had stirred an army of speculators into operations, but the public has become suspicious slump if the inevitable liquidation came. Now the public is too wise, or would like to trade in so fetal a fashion, we would not be surprised, to be imperilled.

Much will depend upon the weather within the next week or ten days. The Atlantic states get just what they want, the profession, the crop reporters, etc. For human nature being what it is most people will forget that has happened previously when the glowing reports will come from the fields, because the improvement will seem marvelous by contrast with the west's predicament during the deluge and the east's predicament during the drought.

Rains, favorable, shows fair in North Carolina and Oklahoma; part cloudy to cloudy in the rest of the cotton belt, especially in western states, but general showers central and eastern Texas. Also in Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama and parts of eGorgia.

Indications are for similar weather over the Carolinas today and tomorrow; local thunder showers over Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Mississippi; partly cloudy over Louisiana, with probably showers over the north central portion. Over Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana and Oklahoma, fair today and tomorrow.

Washington.—The house committee on agriculture today began the consideration of the Lever bill to regulate cotton exchanges. When the bill is reported Democratic leaders will lead the fight to force consideration at this session.

Dallas wires: Texas and Oklahoma, generally fair, now and Friday.

Forecast:

Louisiana—Tonight and Friday fair in west portion, unsettled in east portion, probably thunderstorms; gentle to moderate south winds on the coast.

Arkansas—Tonight and West Texas—Generally fair tonight and Friday.

East Texas—Generally fair tonight and Friday; probably occasional thunder storms west.

North Carolina—Tonight and Friday, unsettled in west; probably showers.

South Carolina—Tonight and Friday.

Florida—Unsettled in northwest, probably thunder showers tonight and Friday; showers in east.

[1] A. M. bids in New York were as follows: July 13.07; August 12.97; October 12.62; December 12.66; January 12.66; March 12.71; May 12.62.

Say complete indicates unsettled, showers weather for most of the belt; look for more extended rains; temperatures will be moderate.

Sentiment favors further reaction, but buying power is increasing on the bulges here and E. K. Cone good buyer.—Andy.

Thorn & Magnin, of New Orleans, say:

Spots firm and unchanged on the basis of 13c for middling; liquidation and a poor Liverpool started our market lower. Some good buying by the people caused a reaction of some 6 to 8 points from the low point of the session at 1 o'clock becoming more quiet and steady. Reports from Texas and scattered showers in Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi, followed by a scalping market for a time and subject to weather changes.

Talley & Co.: Private wire advices: Favorable reports come in much worse than expected. All July cotton sold on bulges. Buy December. Texas all cotton lands abandoned, as small grain now harvested. Buy middle lands. The less wheat and oats cut right now they are for. Buy October on declines.—Bert Talley.

Hubbard & Co.: Private wire advices: Notwithstanding great damage in southern Texas, all the western and northern sections have not yet planted yet, and hot weather is less than thirty days away.

STOCK GOSSIP

New York Journal of Commerce:

Judge Lovett says administration bill to regulate issuance of railroad securities would discourage investment. Great exaggeration. Railway earnings unchanged at 3 per cent. California Petroleum Co. reports 1,000,000 barrels of oil in storage. Interstate Commerce committee reports in favor of bill authorizing Wilson Creek Irrigation district, Colorado, $0.52, up .32.

Following is the weekly movement of the stock market for some time past, with the exception of the week ending today, which is not over. For trading it seems easy to buy on side of recession, and sell on side of recovery, especially when recessions occur on bad news and recoveries on good news. Looks like a premium on a new issue of the old subject of dividend on the old stock. Would confine trading to active stocks.—Clark.

GRAIN GOSSIP

Orr, Gwynn & Woodruff-Herald says:

Wheat bulls were encouraged to thinking that the general movement of the crop is more than one million bushels cash here and at Duluth for the week ending last night and today. Bears did not take kindly to the advance yesterday and will not do so only temporary.

Bulls in corn were confident that their position is strong. Cash demand and movement of stocks this month will be light, if there are any.

FAVORABLE CROP ADVICES CAUSED BREAK IN WHEAT

Wheat Closed 3-4 to 1 Cent Lower—Corn, Oats, Lard and Sides Off—Pork Firm

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, June 4.—Favorable weather over the entire domain of winter wheat and spring opened up the wheat market today under considerable selling pressure. To this belief further advantage in the fact that Liverpool quotations showed no response to yesterday's advance on this side of the Atlantic. Besides, Chicago receipts were liberal, and no export clearances were manifest, no damage has yet become apparent. After opening ¼@⅝ to ⅞ lower, the market suffered a material additional setback.

Prospects of larger world wheat shipments were reported, there were welcome rains in the Canadian northwest and it was declared Nebraska would harvest a bumper yield. Closed, although steady, at a net decline of ¾@⅞ to 1@1¼c.

Corn fell off with wheat and as a result of cheaper offerings from Argentina. Excellent growing conditions in the United States operated also against the bulls. Prices, which started ¼ to ⅝@⅝ down, continued to decline.

Estimates were current that in the last week Argentine corn bought to come to the United States amounted to 1,000,000 bushels. Closed steady, but ¾ to 1@1c lower lower.

The ch. interest in oats was the weakness in other grains.

Provisions were up, higher prices at the yards furnished the support.

INVESTIGATION OF COUNTY BOARD SEEMS ASSURED

Charges of Graft Probably Will Be Taken Up at Session Next Week

Statements made by B. L. Willingham, foreman of the Fulton county grand jury, indicate there is now no doubt that a probe of the board of county commissioners will be made by that body.

However, Mr. Willingham states there has been no request by other members of the jury for a special session of the body to go into the matter, and at present he does not think a special meeting will be called.

He will wait until the grand jury meets in the next routine session and then the county board report, including the resolution adopted Wednesday, asking a probe, will be placed before the grand jury.

Speaking of the coming probe, Mr. Willingham said: "Both sides in the commission have asked for a probe, and in view of the charges I think they are entitled to an investigation. In addition, I believe the public is entitled to an investigation of these public officers, which will show the truth or the falsity of the charges made against them."

SPEAKS AS INDIVIDUAL.

Mr. Willingham made it very clear that he spoke only as an individual member of the grand jury, and any action which is taken, of course, depends on the will of the majority of the members of the organization.

In regard to the request of the board of county commissioners that the hearings be public, Mr. Willingham stated that personally he is inclined to follow the request, of the grand jury is allowed to do so by law.

The matter of public sessions of the grand jury was considered by the last jury during its probe of the conditions in the county convict camps, and it was decided it would not be lawful for the jury to have a public hearing.

However lawyers say the grand jury can resolve itself into a committee of the whole to make an investigation and the committee can hold open sessions. Then, of course, the committee could report to the grand jury in regular session and any action by the body could be taken in the usual secret session.

As to the manner in which the proposed investigation will be conducted, no statement from the members of the body can be obtained.

However it is thought the men who hurled accusations of improper conduct at each other during the recent campaign, will be called on to prove their charges.

PROOF IS PROMISED.

Tull C. Waters, chairman of the board who was defeated for re-election, made repeated charges not of graft, but misconduct in office, against three members of the board, Shelby Smith, S. B. Turman and W. T. Winn. He declares he can prove every assertion made in his campaign cards, and he stands ready to prove them before any jury or investigating body.

The commissioners mentioned, and Oscar Mills, who defeated Mr. Waters, all replied with counter charges, and they say they are ready to prove their assertions.

According to the solicitor general's office, no session of the grand jury for routine matters has been called, and none is likely until next week, probably during the latter part of next week.
